Troutmans Named Outstanding Berks Farm Family

MICHELLE RANCK

MOHRSVILLE (Berks Co.) This year marks the 45th Year for the "Outstanding Farm Family" award sponsored by the Reading Fair. Applicants were evaluated on criteria such as involvement in agriculture and the Grange plus other farm organizations, family hobbies, sports and recreation, civic, fraternal, community and school involvement, record keeping and farm management practices.

Pass through the bustling industry of the nearby small city, drive through the shops and highways through the bustling town, and continue beyond the residential houses lining the street. Here, tucked in a tunnel of green-leafed corn lining the road, lies Reu-Hel farm, a place of peace next to the neighboring highways and businesses.

The Mohrsville farm is a third-generation establishment, begun in 1945 by Reuben and Helen Ohlinger, the "Reu" and HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Brown Cows of the dairy business received their due recognition at the recent National Brown Swiss Convention. Hosted by Pennsylvania this year, the conference ran from Wednesday, July 12 to Saturday, July 15.

Wednesday's activities included a visit to H. E. Heindel and Sons Front Line Swiss operation plus a golf outing.

Thursday's tours took participants to Gettysburg, Hersheypark, or a Lebanon-area farm tour, followed by a banquet and ambassador contest.

After breakfasts with Ken Bailey, Betty Groff, and Rebecca Sonnen Bube speaking on Friday morning, participants attended a national business meeting and leadership elections before an award luncheon and evening tailgate party.

On Saturday the convention culminated with a national Brown Swiss sale.

Approximately 250 people from across the U.S. registered

Stoner Family Passes Corporation To Second Generation

JAYNE SEBRIGHT
Lancaster Farming Staff

MERCERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Experts say that a farm should first be a business and then a way of life. The Stoners of Franklin County have been operating their farm as a corporate business for the past 30 years.

In 1970, brothers John, Jay, Gene, Herb, Bob, and Dave incorporated the family farm that their parents, the late J.W. and Carrie Stoner, began in 1942. Then, early this year, the brothers transferred the corporation to the next generation of Stoners.

Now cousins Tim, Todd, Alan, Mark, Steve, and Kevin Stoner operate the 575-cow dairy and farm 1,600 acres. Tim serves as the president of the corporation and is responsible for feeding the cows and keeping records.

His brother Todd serves as secretary/treasurer and handles herd health, along with administering vaccinations, drying off cows, and trimming feet.

Alan, Steve, and Kevin do a lot of the milking. Everybody helps with the crops.

The cousins and their families work on the farm, along with some of the original partners. Bob and Dave still work full-time on the farm, while John and Jay are part-time employees. Nobody outside the family is employed on the Stoner farm, which uses the prefix Hijos Hill. "Hijos" is Spanish for sons.

The herd averages 21,000 pounds of milk on two times a day test with 3.0 percent protein and 3.7 percent fat. They have about 600 heifers and ship their milk to Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative.

They milk their herd in a double sixteen herringbone rapid-exit parlor that was built in 1992, along with a 500-stall freestall barn. In 1998, the Stoners added a dry cow barn to the rear of the milking center to care for dry and other special needs cows.

On Tuesday night, the Stoners hosted an educational seminar for other Franklin County dairy producers. The educational seminar is held once a year and coordinated by Cooperative Extension. County extension agent Phil Wagner asked Tim if they would host the seminar this year and focus on their new dry cow and special needs area.

The dry cow and special needs areas are housed in one building. One area houses dry cows in freestalls, and another area provides bedded pack for the prefresh cows. Calving pens are kept well bedded for fresh cows. There is also a hospital area and a four-stall milking parlor where the Stoners milk

CATTLE: Compared to last week's closing prices, slaughter steers and heifers closed steady to .50 lower. Losses came early in the week on light demand, but increased Kosher interest late in the week stabilized prices at the lower level. This week's offering was fairly attractive, but the plainer Select cattle sold better, in relation to the Choice cattle, than they have in several weeks. Loads of inexpensive Western cattle continue to pass by our local auctions on the way to Eastern packing plants. As soon as competition improves by the big four packers for Midwestern cattle, the local market should improve significantly. Major feedlots sold cattle steady to 1.00 lower from 66.00-67.00 live and 106.00-107.00 dressed. Local Holstein steers closed steady to 1.00 lower. Slaughter cows ended 2.00-3.00 lower with the full decline on the leaner-type cows. Boneless beef prices have plunged since the July 4th holiday. Slaughter bulls sold 1.00 lower. Supply included 42 pct

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
July 19, 2000
Report Supplied By USDA

Daily National Grain Market Summary

Wheat and corn bids were mixed but soybean bids were lower, today. Some overnight export sales and fund buying on the Board offered strength to grain bids. However, active wheat harvest and continued good growing weather in the Midwest and Corn Belt, weighed on bids. Wheat 2 cents lower to 9 cents higher. Corn 1 cent higher to 2 cents lower. Sorghum 2 cents higher. Soybeans steady to 7 cents lower.

Continued progress in wheat harvest and ample supplies, undermined wheat bids. Some strength was noted as a corrective move after recent declines. Fund buying and light export interest were also plus factors. Reports indicated Egypt bought 145,000 metric tons of U.S. hard red winter wheat but no official announcement was made.

Slight gains were made in corn pits due to fair overnight sales to South Korea and indications Mexico may be seeking U.S. corn. Additional strength came from reports of weather problems in China which could possibly cut their corn crop yield. However, favorable growing weather and good crop conditions limited gains in corn and pressured soybean bids lower. The soybean crop is blooming and setting pods at this point.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

JULY 24-30, 2000

NEW MOON, JULY 30.

STATE OF THE CROPS

Now the state of the crops is known," says the old lore for mid- to late July The hot, sultry Dog Days of summer are well underway, and some crops, at least, seem to thrive in the humidity Dog Days commenced July 3 but do not end until August 11, coinciding with the heliacal (at sunrise) rising of the Dog Star, Sirius July's Full Thunder Moon (July 16) traditionally marks a period of intense heat, followed by cooling thunderstorms With luck, those rains do not crush or flood the crops in the field but only nourish them Now the new Moon brings another weather change. "Abundance depends on sour milk," says the weather lore, suggesting that thunder sours the milk but aids crops.

Change of weather makes conversation for fools.

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ In periods of dry weather, water crops very early in the morning.

GRILLED EGGPLANT

2 cups diced eggplant, skins on
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
3 tablespoons butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 tomato, chopped

Seal all the ingredients in heavy-duty (or double-thickness) foil, and bake over a charcoal or gas grill for about 1 hour Test occasionally for doneness by carefully opening the packet and piercing the eggplant with a fork

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Peter and Paul (July 29) will rot the roots of the rye.

No tempest, good July, / Lest the corn look ruely.

A glaring, sunny morning never comes to a good end.

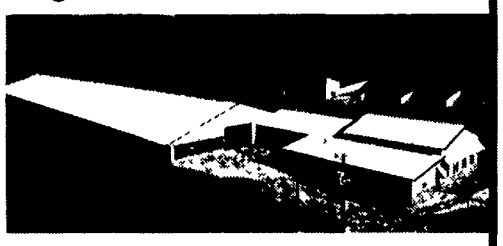
The Building you want. The Lease you need.



Telmark has been leasing equipment for over 30 years. Did you know that we've been leasing new buildings for that long too? Consider:

- Tax deductibility and accelerated write-offs: Lease payments are income tax deductible over the term of the lease compared to 20-year depreciation of farm buildings and 39-year depreciation of commercial buildings. Could reduce tax liability this year.
- Low upfront costs: As little as one monthly lease payment.
- Flexible lease term: Building lease terms from five to fifteen years.
- Customized payment schedules: Lease payment schedules are specially designed to match your cash flow.

First: Talk with a qualified builder to determine your needs and building cost.
Then: Call your Telmark representative for your financing.

OPINION

Increase Farm Income

Corn growers took another step toward higher incomes with the recent announcement by the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA) of a $2.5 million research project to create new, higher valued consumer products for corn fiber or bran.

"We're looking up the value chain for corn products," says Lee Klein, a farmer from Battle Creek, Neb., and president-elect of NCGA. "This research will create a process that will take corn fiber or bran that's currently going into the market as low-priced feed that we're practically giving away and instead convert bran into feedstocks for consumer products such as paint and plastics and into ethanol. And reducing the supply of corn ultimately improves prices.

"It's another example of NCGA's stewardship of checkoff dollars. Growers will get the benefit of the entire project and leverage their investment of checkoff dollars 10 to 1. That's an enviable return on investment. NCGA will manage the project in a cost sharing partnership with Archer Daniels Midland of Decatur, Ill. The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) is contributing $1.7 million and Battelle Pacific Northwest National Laboratory of Richland, Wash., will be a subcontractor for this project," says Klein.

This is a milestone on the road to having renewable resources claim 10 percent of the consumer chemical feedstock market by 2020. The 10 percent is the Vision for the Agricultural Industry of the Future program sponsored by DOE. In 1996, the agricultural and chemical industries and the DOE, with leadership from NCGA, developed the Plant/Crop-based Renewable Resources 2020 program to achieve the 10 percent level. This DOE grant is part of the agency's Bioproducts and Bioenergy Technology program. This is a new effort that develops opportunities in bioproducts, biopower and biofuels and supplements the Ag Vision program that focuses only on bioproducts.

"If plants were the feedstock for 10 percent of the chemical market today, farm income would be more than $5 billion higher," says Klein. Furthermore, the increased use of renewable resources in chemical feedstocks would decrease oil imports, reduce greenhouse gas emissions and create new industries in the U.S.

We know livestock farmers depend on low feed costs to produce milk and meat. But we believe there should be enough margin in the food chain to support both higher grain prices and higher milk and meat prices.

Editor:

The movie "Chicken Run" has certainly brought agriculture and specifically poultry production into the spotlight of the American public. As a poultry industry, we welcome the opportunity to share our advances in consumer food safety, animal welfare, and environmental stewardship. A recent letter to the editor which contained some significant misleading facts and implications about poultry certainly warrants a response with some of the real facts on poultry in Pennsylvania.

It is fully disingenuous to imply that this poultry is "packed with antibiotics, hormones, pesticides." There are no hormones used in poultry production.

The author is correct in stating bacteria, specifically Salmonella, can be found on poultry products as well as many other things, including vegetables. As with any raw food product, proper handling plays a big role in keeping the food safe.

In fact, every package of raw poultry meat contains a label with proper food handling instructions including washing your hands before and after cooking, don't cross contaminate, keep the product cold, and cook the product thoroughly.

With a few simple food safety practices, poultry remains one of the safest and most nutritious foods in the market.

Now Is The Time

To Be Aware Of Corn Rootworm Beetles

Adult corn rootworm beetles usually begin emerging about July 4th, however, this year they were emerging almost 10 days earlier because of the warm weather, reports Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent. When adult rootworms begin to emerge from the soil, most of the root feeding has been completed. At this time some are adult, most are in the transition pupa stage and only a few are still actively feeding larvae. When feeding stops, the corn plant will begin generating new roots above the feeding zone. Within a short period of time, the new roots will almost hide the feeding damage. If this root growth is sufficient before a storm, it may not cause the corn plant to lodge. Depending on the weather and the extent of root feeding, yields maybe impacted without seeing the damage of lodging corn.

To Scout For Corn Rootworm Beetles

Scouting now for next year is a way to determine where to spend pesticide dollars to prevent crop damage next year, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent. Based on the number of beetles found by the farmer now, a good estimate maybe made if a rootworm insecticide should be applied in that field next year. The threshold for continuous corn is an average of two northern or one western adult beetle per plant. For first year corn in a field, the threshold is an average of three northern or one and half western adult beetles per plant.

To Prepare For Storms

The recent thunderstorms reminds us that high winds, lightning and falling trees can cause unpredictable interruptions to electric service. The following precautionary measures will help minimize the inconvenience of an interruption of electrical service. Keep a battery-powered radio, flashlight and plenty of fresh batteries in hand where you can find them in the dark. Avoid the use of candles. Mishandled or unattended candles could cause a fire at a time when all public safety resources are strained. Keep a radio or light plugged in and turned on so you know when the power is restored. Turn off or disconnect appliances such as air conditioners, computers, heat pumps, televisions, washers and dryers. If all these appliances begin operating at the same time after power is restored, your dwelling's fuses could blow or circuit breakers could trip. Fill a tub, several large bottles or pots with water. Your water supply could stop if your home uses a well and pump. A fully loaded freezer can keep food cold for 36 to 48 hours if the door remains closed. Remember, touching a vehicle, fence, person or water in contact with a downed line is dangerous.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WALKING THE WALK

July 23, 2000

Background Scripture:
Ephesians 5 through 6:4.
Devotional Reading:
Ephesians 5:6-20.

Let's start with the hard part: "Wives be subject to your husbands as to the Lord. For the husband is the head of the wife as Christ is head of the church...as the church is subject to Christ, so let wives be subject in everything to their husbands" (Eph. 5:21-23).

It's in the Bible then — the husband is the head of the wife and wife shall be subject to the husband. Is this an authoritative teaching for all Christians? I do not believe it is.

There are other teachings in the Bible that Christians do not count as authoritative. In Leviticus, Moses, speaking for God, commands the people of God to abstain from certain foods that are "unclean." (Lev. 11). In Leviticus 20:10 we are commanded that "If a man commits adultery with the wife of his neighbor, both the adulterer and the adulteress shall be put to death!" In Deuteronomy 2:14 the father and mother of "a stubborn and rebellious son" are commanded to bring the son to the elders at the city gate "and stone him to death with stones."

I do not know of any Christians today who obey these commandments even though they appear unequivocally in the Bible. Though these commandments are represented as the will of God, and although nowhere in the gospels does Jesus revoke them, we do not hold them to be authoritative for us. My own experience of Jesus Christ does not permit me to live by these rules.

What Is Authoritative?

Sometimes we rationalize this problem in holding that the New Testament supersedes the Old. But there are also many Old Testament teachings that we do hold authoritative for us — the Ten Commandments, for example.

Furthermore, there are some teachings in the New Testament that we do not regard as authoritative for our lives in Christ. For example: the prohibition against divorce (I Cor. 7:10,11), the stricture against marrying "unbelievers" (2 Cor. 14), and the acceptance of slavery (Eph. 6:5), among others. Although Paul counseled the Romans to "let every person be subject to the governing authorities" and "he who resists the authorities resists what God has appointed..." (Ro. 13:1,2), in the days of the Third Reich, some German Christians resisted the godless Nazi regime as a matter of Christian conscience.

My point is not to deny the Bible's authority, but to honestly acknowledge that no one lives in literal compliance with all the teachings and commandments we find there. All of us interpret the scriptures in accordance with what we believe to be the spirit of Christ. Often we may not agree on what is authoritative in the Bible. Much as we love and respect it, our loyalty is not to a book, but the Lord whom we encounter within it.

So, Paul's view of the superior role of the husband over the wife simply reflected the male-dominated society in which he worked. Because he believed that the triumphal return of Christ was near, he did not attempt to change the structure of that society. Instead he sought to infuse that structure with a new spirit: "Therefore be imitators of God, as beloved children. And walk in love, as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us..." (Eph. 1:2).

Imitating God

The teaching in Ephesians is so radical, so revolutionary that it transformed all human relationships: husbands, wives, children, slaves and masters. If we imitate God, we find in emulating the self-giving love of Jesus that there can ultimately prevail no injustices, no inequalities, and no subjugations.

The emphasis is not upon how we talk the faith, but how we walk it — "Walk as children of the light (for the fruit of light is found in all that is good and right and true) and try to learn what is pleasing to the Lord" (5:8a,9,10). Walking is following Christ. Walking is witnessing.

It is said that one day St. Francis of Assisi invited some of his monastic colleagues to go with him into town to help him preach to the people. Throughout the whole excursion he spoke not a word to the people and his disciples were confounded. "But, Master," they said at last, "you said we would be preaching as we went, but we never spoke to them." St. Francis then explained to them that the way they walked through the town was the preaching the people needed.

We can witness with words, but often the witness of the way we walk with Christ is more convincing.

Weekly Dairy Market Outlook

By Ken Bailey
Penn State University
July 14, 2000

Market in a Holding Pattern

- CME cheese prices stable
- CME butter prices weaken some
- Market waiting for new reports

Cheese prices were relatively stable this week at the Chicago Mercantile Exchange (CME). Prices for 40-pound block cheese traded between $1.20 and $1.23 per pound. Barrel cheese traded between $1.19 and $1.21 per pound. Clearly the market is looking for direction.

On the one hand, packagers and processors have ample supplies of cheese on hand. Much of the growth in the milk

Silage Spreaders with a Heritage of Quality

Lancaster Level-Flo has been the leader in non-motorized silage spreaders for more than 25 years. Each spreader is specifically designed to meet the needs of the individual operator.

Choose the spreader that best matches the equipment you use to fill your silo.

The Model 1030 Multi-Flo® is our standard silage spreader. With a 9" gooseneck, it is designed for average capacity blowers and silo sizes.

The Model 1200 Multi-Flo® has a 12" wide gooseneck. Its larger size all but eliminates plugging problems, even when you blow in haylage. It is especially helpful in larger silos.

The BlueMax® is built for those who push high-capacity silo filling equipment to the limit. All parts of the BlueMax® subject to wear are made 25% heavier - and the stainless steel plate is twice as heavy. For strength, there are reinforcements all around. Even our well-known non-binding hinge is heavier.

For more information or the location of the Lancaster dealer nearest you, call today. 1-800-635-8708.

NEED HIGH QUALITY FORAGE?

NO-TILL GREEN SPIRIT RYEGRASS INTO THOSE TIRED OLD ALFALFA FIELDS!

Has much higher quality than triticale or wheat.

Is actually a better feed than alfalfa. Has more digestible fiber and sugars.

Does not head out until approximately May 12. Cut your alfalfa & GREEN SPIRIT first week of May and the GREEN SPIRIT will be ready again 3 weeks later. Yes, that's 2 cuttings and still time to plant corn.

So if you have moisture in the ground, no-till GREEN SPIRIT into your worn out alfalfa fields after 3rd cutting and still get a good cutting or two this fall, and lots of tonnage next spring.

(Turn to Page A22)

"Hel" in "Reu-Hel Farm." Scott and Connie incorporated with Connie's parents, Elwood and Ruth Ohlinger, in 1991 and built a home on the farm. The house is situated across the driveway from the home Connie grew up in and where her parents currently reside.

Scott's parents, George and Mary Troutman, also a farm family, reside in Myerstown. Connie's sister and her family also live on a nearby farm and help the family milk occasionally. The Troutmans, both 35, believe that the farm is an excellent place to raise Jason, 12, Eric, 9, and Douglas, 7.

Milking more than 150 registered Holstein cows in a 54-stanchion barn with six visotron milkers takes a substantial amount of manpower, as the Troutmans have discovered.

The combination of milking and switching groups of cows takes three people about three and a half hours. "It's difficult to find help," said Connie. "And we can't operate with less than three people, so someone has to quit field work to help milk."

The solution may come with new facilities in the future. "We're hoping to expand," said Connie. "We're not very far yet but you have to start somewhere." They are currently working on the plans for expansion to 250 cows and a parallel parlor.

Since Scott and Connie both grew up on a dairy farm, they treat many of the cows on their own. Scott works on sore feet while Connie dispenses the necessary medications. "It's all on-farm training," said Connie. "There was a time that I wanted to be a vet, but I followed a veterinarian around and decided that I have enough cows I can practice on here rather than treat somebody else's."

Currently the farm has almost 150 registered Holstein heifers and has sold 16 registered Holstein bulls for AI in the United States besides selling cattle on consignment each year. The Troutmans have also exported embryos they have exported to France and Holland. They sell 15-20 head per year for dairy purposes.

"My grandfather started early with AI about 45 years ago, selecting for type and high production, so a lot of what we have today dates back to what my father and grandfather did with the herd. Now we have generations of our own breeding," said Connie.

Reu-Hel farm spreads over 541 acres on six different parcels. With the addition of 200 rented acres, the family raises about 300 acres of corn and 200 acres of alfalfa plus smaller amounts of soybeans, barley, wheat, and oats on 680 acres of tillable land.

The herd is classified every year by a Holstein Association classifier. With the last classification the farm had 17 Excellent 48 Very Good, 45 Good Plus and 12 Good cows. The herd average is more than 24,000 pounds milk, 923 pounds fat, and 778 pounds protein.

Although the family does show cows and have a few reserve all-Pennsylvania honors, the boys' interest seem to lean toward sports at this time. "We pursue what they enjoy," said Connie.

The boys can find a game to play year round, with baseball in the spring, swimming in the summer and winter, and soccer in the fall. Their father has been an example as he enjoys his position as pitcher for the Northwest Berks fastball league. "Sports is his outlet," said Connie.

Besides attending sports events, "I go to meetings," said Connie, who was just elected state director for Berks County to the State Holstein Board, a three-year term. As director she will represent the county's responses to state decisions in the dairy industry.

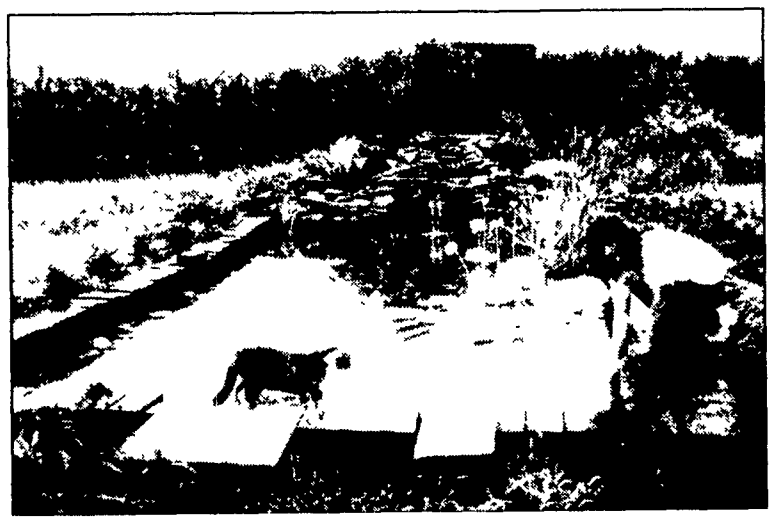
A former dairy princess, Connie still works at promoting dairy products. Each year the Holstein Club sells five-pound blocks of cheese as a fundraiser, and, since 1990, Connie has singlehandedly sold and delivered 5 tons of cheese.

"I wrote a letter to agribusinesses suggesting that they give cheese to their employees as a Christmas gift," said Connie. "So they'll buy 40-50 blocks at a time. Also the cheese is good so if I can get people to buy it once, they'll usually buy it again the next year."

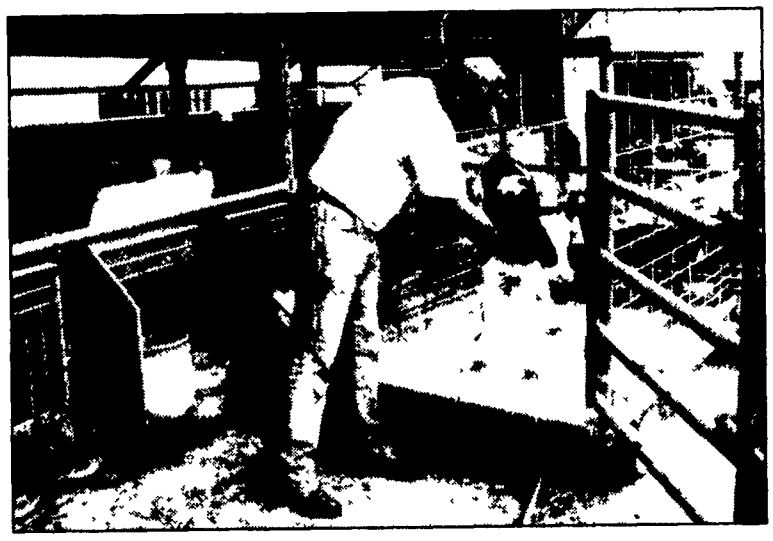
Each member of the Troutman family added a long list of accomplishments and organizational involvement and leadership to the farm family application. Scott has long been a member of the Ontelaunee, Berks County Pomona, and Pennsylvania State Granges and has participated on the volleyball and bowling grange leagues. A member of the Berks County Holstein Club, Scott has also served on several committees for the club besides helping on Young Farmer teams and committees. He was also a director for the Berks County Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

Connie's list includes involvement in the Granges, the Holstein Club, 4-H leadership and committee involvement, Farm-City Council Representation, Young Farmers membership and ambulance attendant certification.

"Farming is getting harder all the time, whether it's just finding help or dealing with new regulations. I still enjoy what I do, though, I wouldn't want to do anything different. It's a really nice place to raise the boys," said Connie.



Large lilies grace the pond, a highlight of the Troutmans' back yard. "Ponds are really cool but it's not like they just exist," said Connie. "They're a lot of hard work with weeds and aphids and strong roots to break up." Milo, the family cat, scopes the activity of the pond's resident fish.



After his shop burned down years ago, Scott got a new shop where he builds innovations such as the cart to move calves, such as this young one, from the barn to the new calf barn. He has also created portable vaccination chute and heifer feeder for the farm. His current project is a 1937 Ford.

Calves housed in the new, 30-head calf barn are always glad to see Eric moving up the line. The barn, built in 1995, is equipped with a feed room and a mixing room with a hot water heater. The calves are fed colostrum at birth and for the first three days. At weaning, the calves are picture for registration with the Holstein Association, dehorned, I.D. tagged, and castrated if necessary.

"Scott designs the landscape," said Connie. "I just tell him what I want and he figures it out and does it." Railroad ties accent the flowerbed which adds a dash of color to the calf barn.

Another product of Scott's shop is the automatic shutoff feeder at the heifer barn, a feature which makes Jason's life a little easier.

Are Your Feed Bunks Fresh??

Greg Strait
Dairy Extension Agent
Fulton Co.

Would you eat at your feedbunk? Are your cows eating fresh feed every bite they consume? If you answered "NO" to either one of these questions, then we need to evaluate your feed bunks.

During the hot humid days of summer, it is hard to keep the feed fresh at all times. This is something that needs to be done if we are going to keep dry matter intakes at their maximum levels. You need to keep the bunks dry and clean of all foreign matter. Are you feeding five percent over what the cows are eating? If so, then you need to sweep the bunks before each feeding and feed it to another group of animals. This will keep the feed fresh for the milk cows at all times.

One way to keep the feed fresh and the bunks smelling clean is to sprinkle some sodium bicarbonate down the bunk. This will both freshen-up and dry out the feed bunks. Be sure to clean all debris from the bunks before you spread the bicarbonate.

I can't stress this enough, keep the bunks clean, dry and fresh. If you have any questions, please feel free to give me a call at the extension office (717) 485-4111.

Understanding Your June Milk Check: Mideast and Northeast Federal Orders

July 18, 2000
Ken Bailey
Penn State University

Dairy farmers marketing their milk into the Mideast or Northeast federal order will be receiving their June milk checks this week. Even though farmers receive these final checks in July, they are based on milk shipments in June. I will attempt to explain how these milk checks were determined.

The first place to look on your milk check is the component prices for butterfat, protein, and other solids. These prices should be the same as those announced by the USDA. They are important since they determine your own personal

Class III value. The component values per pound for June 2000 are as follows: protein: $1.4278, butterfat: $1.4128, and other solids: $0.0438.

These component values are determined from economic formulas that are dependent on monthly average commodity prices determined by the National Agricultural Statistics Service (NASS). The June monthly average NASS survey prices per pound are as follows: butter: $1.2725, cheese: $1.1137, nonfat dry milk: $1.0097, and dry whey: $0.1794.

Next, consider your component levels for butterfat, protein, and other solids. These are computed by dividing the pounds of the components by the pounds of milk shipped. It is important to compare you component levels in percentage terms with the average for the order you ship your milk into. If your component levels are below average, your milk check will be below average.

Next, look for your Producer Price Differential, or PPD. The PPD reflects your share of the dollars generated by the market wide pool over and above the Class III value. The PPD is announced by your Market Administrator for a major city (Cleveland for Order 33 and Boston for Order 1). The PPD on your milk check is the announced PPD, plus a location adjustment to the plant you shipped your milk to. More about this next.

Mideast Order 33:

The June statistical uniform price for order 33 was $12.38 per cwt. This is the average of all June class sales in the order adjusted to standard component levels. By itself, this figure doesn't mean much. But combined with the Class III price, it determines your PPD. Since the Class III price at 3.5 percent butterfat was $9.46 per cwt, the PPD for Cleveland was $2.92. Dairy farmers shipping milk into order 33 will have this PPD adjusted to the plant they shipped their milk to. These adjustments follow the map of Class I differentials that Congress agreed to. For example, dairy farmers who shipped milk to Sharpsville, Pennsylvania, will receive a PPD of $3.02 per cwt in June ($2.92 PPD plus $0.10 adjustment).

The June component averages for order 33 were butterfat: 3.60 percent, protein: 2.96 percent, and other solids: 5.71 percent. Compare your component levels on your milk check with these figures. If your component levels in percentage terms are below these averages, your Class III value is below average!

Northeast Order 1:

The June statistical uniform price for order 1 was $13.25 per cwt. This was based on pool sales of 42.1 percent Class I, 17.9 percent Class II, 30.1 percent Class III, and 9.9 percent Class IV. The PPD announced for Boston was $3.79 per cwt. For dairy farmers shipping milk to plants in Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, the PPD would be $0.35 per cwt less, or $3.44 per cwt.

The June component averages for order 1 were butterfat: 3.63 percent, protein: 2.97 percent, and other solids: 5.78 percent. Again, if your component levels in percentage terms are below these, your Class III value is below average!

Producers shipping milk into order 33 also get a premium or discount for Somatic Cell Count, or SCC. The premium/discount is equal to 350 minus your SCC level (in thousands) times the somatic cell adjustment rate of $0.00056 per cwt. If your SCC level is above 350, you received a deduction on your milk check. The average producer in order 33 in June received a SCC premium of $0.01 per cwt.

FUTURES MARKETS

supply has flowed into cheese vats and has resulted in growth in cheese inventories. On the other hand, milk receipts at cheese plants is seasonally slowing and that should result in lower stocks over time.

Grade AA butter prices at the CME weakened slightly this week, falling from $1.19 per pound on Monday, July 10 to $1.1775 per pound by Friday, July 14. It is likely that this price weakness reflects very short-term conditions. Butter production has already declined seasonally due to two factors. First, butterfat levels tend to be lower this time of the year due to summer heat. Second, starting in late fall, available cream supplies usually go into ice cream production.

Butter prices should improve some during the summer and fall months. However, adequate stocks of butter will prevent any significant run up in prices.

The market right now is waiting for additional information before making any new changes in direction. The milk production report will be released Monday, July 17. The market will be looking closely at the number of cows on 20-select states. If that number levels off, we could see cheese prices strengthen slightly. However, if it continues to increase, you could see cheese prices capped at current levels over the next month.

The second report the market is anticipating will be the Cold Storage report to be released Friday, July 21. That report ill provide important information on the amount of cheese and butter stored in public warehouses. It is likely that stocks of dairy products are already seasonally declining. That, along with a strong national economy, will help strengthen dairy commodity prices and farm-level milk prices.

Somerset Junior Dairy Show Results Given

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — A Junior two-year-old, on a fine July 11 summer day, took supreme champion honors at the Somerset County Junior Dairy Show held at the fairgrounds.

Hillmont Stardust Nyla-ET, born March 10, 1998 out of Browndale Stardust and TKT Leadman Prim also was Holstein breed senior champion and grand champion for owner Juliana Hillegass of Berlin, who belongs to the Milkshakers 4-H Club.

The breeder was Kirk Hillegass of Berlin.

Type judge Andy Foster from Globe-Run Farms, Petersburg said Nyla was "most correct."

Of those shown some 88 animals were qualified to move into district competition.

"Every breed had animals that should so well at a dist- show," Foster observed of the six dairy breeds exhibited. "The animals were extremely well presented," he said. "You could tell the youths did a good job of getting them ready."

Matt Mosholder's four-year-old was Holstein reserve champion. Mossys Astre Missy was said to have the advantage of height, width and angularity. Mosholder is from Rockwood.

Meredith Murray from Salisbury saw her spring yearling twins take grand and reserve champion honors in the Milking Shorthorn breed.

Four D Trishs Sandy, owned by Lance Bittner of Berlin, was the grand champion Brown Swiss. She was shown in the six years and older class.

Reserve champion Brown Swiss was shown by Nathan Tressler of Rockwood. Swamp Creek Nancy Nellie was shown in the five-year-old class.

Kaufman's reserve champion Guernsey was Gregs Laura, a Junior two-year-old.

Wendy Rose from Hollsopple had the Jersey grand champion with a four-year-old, Rose's Pepper Magic, while the reserve champion, another four-year-old named Field of Dreams any fresh, treated, or sick cows.

"It's a little bit different than traditional set-ups," said Tim. "It helps us keep a close eye on all of the special needs cows because they're all in the same area."

New to hosting events at their farm, the Stoners are also preparing to host Franklin Fall Farm Fun Fest on Saturday, September 9. They're expecting around 1,000 people to attend the Fun Fest. On the Thursday and Friday before the Fest, 1,500 fourth graders from every school in the county will visit the farm.

"It's a good opportunity for us to educate the public about farming," said Tim. "The County Farm Bureau coordinates it, and we will set up stations around the farm to tell people what's happening and answer their questions."

Decisions like whether or not they should host the Fun Fest are discussed during monthly meetings with all of the partners. The Stoners use the meetings to discuss daily operations, identify issues with employees, and vote on any major decisions.

"We don't do a lot of voting," said Stoner. "The meetings are usually a good time to look into things we should be doing and things that we want to try."

The Stoners also rely on the advice of their veterinarian, nutritionist, and other consultants who work with the farm. "We thought about having regular meetings with them, but right now we just work closely with each of them on different issues that come up," said Tim.

According to Tim, the transfer from one generation to the next came at a good time. "We talked about it for two or three years, and we wanted to find the best way to handle the transfer and be fair to both sides," he said.

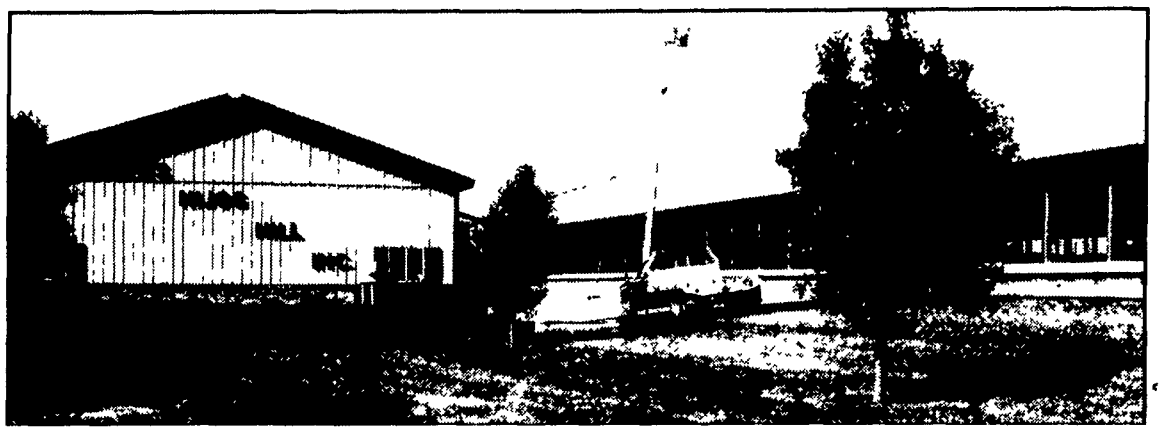
The Stoners worked with a lawyer who was new to transferring family corporations. "We listened to speakers who talked about handing the farm down," said Tim. "But this situation was a lot different than a father handing his farm down to the son."

The transition went smoothly thanks to the cooperation of both generations. "Our uncles were very helpful," said Tim. "I am glad we did it when we did."

According to Tim, becoming owners of the business motivated the cousins to take more interest in what happens on the farm.

"When you're a younger guy working under your father, you don't feel like you own anything," he said. "Now that we made the transition, we're more motivated to do the things we have to do."

Tim's Uncle John said it best. "We older guys started putting this puzzle together 30 years ago, and we at least have the border finished," he said. "Now the younger generation gets to finish putting the pieces in place."



The Stoner family operates Hijos Hill Dairy in Franklin County. Purchased by their grandparents in 1942, the family corporation was recently passed down to the sons of the brothers who formed the original corporation called Hijos Hill.

Built in 1998, the Stoners' dry cow and special needs area houses freestalls for dry cows, bedded pack for prefresh cows, and calving stalls for freshening cows. It also features a four-stall milking parlor to prevent treated milk from getting in the bulk tank.

Pennsylvania Hosts Convention

for the convention. Next year Vermont will host the convention.

"People come to visit each other and compare notes on management practices," said Dean Daubert, McElhattan, president of the Pennsylvania Brown Swiss Association.

Heilinger Swiss

Rolling hills, well-kept farmhouses, and hearty stalks of corn provided a showcase for Pennsylvania farmland as convention participants toured three Brown Swiss farms on Thursday.

Bruce, Laura, and their daughter Emily, 2, established Heilinger Farm two years ago when the couple moved from Newmanstown, New Jersey.

Besides their own cattle they house cattle for Mike Kunkle, Jonestown, and Bill and Cindy Warner, Frederick, Maryland.

Jan Harding, Clarion, executive director for the Pennsylvania dairy princess and promotion services enjoys the banquet with Becky Kilgore, Airville, Heidi Miller, Harrisburg, and Holly Miller, Harrisburg.

In addition to the herd the couple raises corn, alfalfa, and soybeans on 300 acres. The Heilinger herd, made up of about 50 homebred Brown Swiss and 50 Holsteins, has a 23,500 pound rolling herd average.

Not only economics but also disposition make the Brown Swiss a favorite of the Heilingers.

"The Swiss have personality," said Laura. "They're calmer and more easy-going. I don't have to worry about Emily around them, that's why we put mostly Swiss on the ends. They also keep the protein and fat levels up."

"Norm," the Supreme Champion of Pennsylvania Farm Show, and her sister "Nadia" were honorable mention all-American produce of dam. "Roseanne" was first in the state for milk production in 1999.

Little Hill Farm

Guests traveled to Little Hill Farm to tour the family operation of the Hills and Shueys.

Jim and Billie sold the farm to children Rich and Terry and Terry's husband Kevin Shuey as of January 1, 2000. Since Jim's father also owned Swiss, this sale marked three generations of dairying with Swiss for the family.

As with the Heilingers, development pressure forced Jim and Billie to relocate to Pennsylvania in 1987.

(Turn to Page A27)

Billie, Jim, and Rich Hill (top row), along with Kevin and Terry Shuey and their children, Kyle, 4, and Allison, 2, operate Little Hill Farm. According to Billie Hill the whole operation, beginning with construction of the silos, was built in 1979.

Brown Swiss Convention Banquet

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) Approximately 225 people attended the Pennsylvania Showcase Banquet during the convention. Robert Rugaber served as the master of ceremonies. Dean Daubert, president of the Pennsylvania Brown Swiss Association and co-chair of the national convention, welcomed the group.

Don Trimble, co-chair of the banquet committee gave the invocation and Lori Connelly, Pennsylvania State Dairy Princess, gave the milk toast.

After the meal six young women competed in the national youth ambassador contest. Entertainment and dancing followed the meal.

The display in the background celebrates 44 years of grassroots promotion by the dairy princesses. According to information on the display the dairy princess program is designed to increase dairy product sales and improve farm/city understanding. Responsibilities of the young women include news articles, radio spots, farm tours, parades, non-farm speeches, and store and mall promotions.

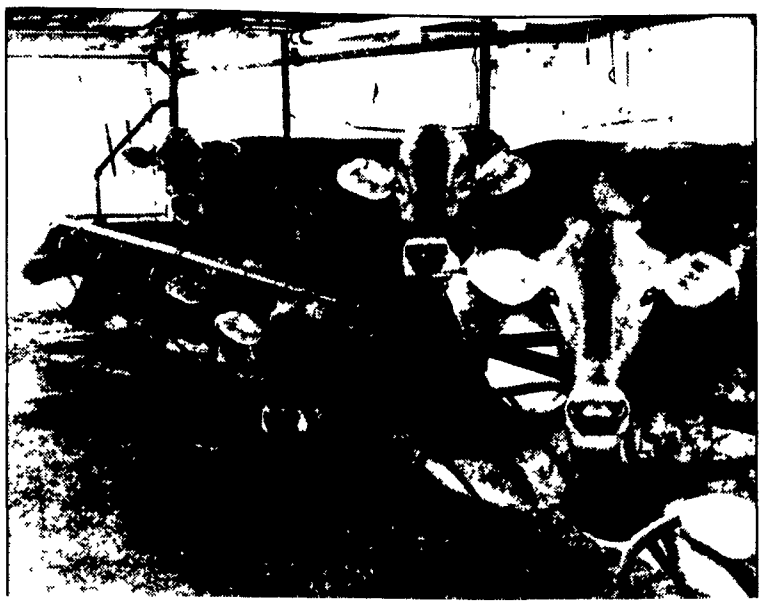
A regular practice in Swizerland, braiding and tying up the tails keeps the cows' tails cleaner. Here Mark and Sue Mapes of Mifflinburg investigate the technique. "It's nice not getting hit with wet tails," said Terry. "This is the first time we've washed the tails since January."



"The Swiss have personality," said Laura Heilinger. "They're calmer and more easy-going. I don't have to worry about Emily (their daughter, 2) around them, that's why we put mostly Swiss on the ends."

(Turn to Page A29)

The Brown Cow

About 65 milk cows make up the herd, including 15 registered Brown Swiss cows. With young stock, the farm hosts 30 Brown Swiss animals. Terry, Kevin and Rich each take a shift to milk three times a day.

A genetic honor herd, Little Hill's Brown Swiss cows average over 24,000 pounds. The farm has also been recognized as having the highest Brown Swiss production in the state in the small herd category.

Rich cites disposition and lower upkeep as traits of the breed. "They're easier maintenance than Holsteins. They're just healthier cows in general, with better feet and legs, and you have less twisted stomach."

Wind Mill Farm

Wm. Ronald Dauber, of Pine Grove, not only hosted a tour of his dairy but also helped to coordinate the convention, which he sees as an opportunity for both renewing acquaintances with friends and gathering ideas to take back to the home farm.

"Every time you go to a different farm there's something you can learn," said Daubert, who has 150 Swiss milk cows and 150 Swiss young stock. Ten Holsteins are used as recipients for Brown Swiss stock.

Daubert's family includes his wife, Rhoda, and children Rhonda, Dean, Dennis, Ronald Ray, Anne and Allen. Besides the cattle Wind Mill Farms raises 400 acres of corn, pasture, and alfalfa.

The Dauberts have a worldwide impact on Brown Swiss genetics, as they have exported cattle and embryos to Brazil, Colombia, and Mexico.

Born and raised on the home farm, Daubert began in 1950 with about 10 Brown Swiss. Daubert's extended experience has helped him identify the strengths of the breed.

"Brown Swiss carries a high-protein milk which most cows don't carry. Cheese makers like it. They get the most amount of cheese out of 100 pounds of milk from Brown Swiss milk."

"They can milk with the others and have excellent feet and legs," said Daubert. "They're the strongest breed of any dairy cattle. They're long-lived and very docile."

Pennsylvania Hosts Convention Showcasing The Brown Cow

Nelson McCammon or Monroe, Wis., and Cindy Warner, president of the Maryland Brown Swiss Breeders Association, are both fans of the breed. McCammon, described by Cindy's husband Bill Warner as "The godfather of the Brown Swiss," has helped many young people get their start with the breed.

McCammon has been in the agriculture business for over 50 years and showed cattle across the U.S. and abroad.

"With experience it (showing cows) comes easy. You don't learn it by the book," said McCammon.

"When kids call me and ask, 'Where can I get a heifer?', I buy them a heifer and they take care of it, manage it, breed it, show it, and sell it if they want to," explained McCammon, who gives half the money back to the heifer's keeper or allows them to buy their half of the animal. He estimates that over the past 8-10 years he's helped 25-30 young people.

"I'm 80 years old and I'm still learning from young people," said McCammon. "It keeps me young."

Virginia Cow/Calf Producers Visit Lancaster Feedlots

MICHELLE RANCK
Lancaster Farming Staff

Recently a group of about 15 Virginia cow/calf breeders made an educational trip to Lancaster to check out feedlots, question cattle feeders, and investigate retained ownership options. Organized by Virginia livestock extension agents, the day provided a forum for two links in the chain of beef production to exchange information.

The tour included a visit to Karl Hess' operation. Hess has been custom feeding cattle for three years. The group also visited Star Rock Farms which has a 1,700 head capacity, and Glenn Binkley, who moves a 250 cattle a year. The Nissleys have facilities to handle 1050 head.

"Today they came up to look at retained ownership and custom feeding options," said Wendall Landis, Beef Quality Assurance director and head of the "Blueprint for Success" program.

"Right now most of them are sending to the Plains, but the bigger feedlots in this area have possibilities."

"Another reason is to get information about bulls to change their breeding programs, so that if the cattle don't marble and grade well, they want to get rid of that bull and get one that can do the job," said Landis. "It's important to get the information back to the cow/calf producer, otherwise you're just shooting blanks."

"For Lancaster feeders, retained ownership takes the risk out of it," Landis said. "They might miss out of the highs, but they'll miss out on the disasters too."

One of the questions from the group addressed premiums paid for preconditioned cattle.

"If we feed cattle once or twice and look at records for gain and feed conversion, then we'll stretch for that, for the known performance, since it takes the guesswork out of buying the cattle," said Darwin Nissley. He also pointed out that they would be willing to pay more "If we don't have to worry about frame size, or that they won't change colors on the way here."

The group also discussed the option of buying and selling cattle over the InterNet. "To me that's great, we can get an idea what's going on there. It's a nice reference," said Nissley. Because of time constraints, however, the Nissley brothers rely on a cattle broker to buy their cattle.

One of the benefits to retained ownership is information flow, as cattle can be identified and tracked all the way to the slaughterhouse, then grade and yield information goes back to the cow/calf producer. The cattle at the Nissley operation have an ear tag with a letter to help designate the time the animals were put into the feedlot.

"The tag numbers will tell where the selects and no rolls come from," explained Nissley. "It helps show which cattle are the 'tail-enders' as we call them, the cattle that you could feed for 400 days and they still won't grade choice," said Nissley.

The group from Virginia expressed interest in getting feedback from the feedlots and slaughterhouses, affirming that having that information would help them evaluate their bulls. Knowing how the cattle grade, then, is necessary to make

Land Use Resources Available From The DCED

In 53 hearings throughout the state, representatives from the Pennsylvania Department of Community and Economic Development, (DCED), spent much of 1999 listening to Pennsylvanians on land use. With regard to land use, Pennsylvanians' concerns were diverse. Intergovernmental cooperation and farmland preservation were the top issues raised at the forums. Both issues were mentioned at nearly every forum.

Open space and historical preservation, as well as water concerns and urban revitalization, were also leading issues. Accordingly, many participants supported the use of growth areas and efforts to encourage development in areas where development already exists.

Nonetheless, it was widely accepted that local government should keep the power to control matters of land use. Education and training was one area where there was no disagreement, everyone agreed that participants in all phases of the planning process are in need of education. Participants from across the Commonwealth asked for more technical assistance and financial assistance for planning.

Gov. Ridge's "Growing Smarter" proposal is based on recommendations garnered from these forums. "Growing Smarter" will start with the largest state investment ever in land-use planning — $3.6 million to give local governments the tools they need to plan effectively for the future.

The budget will provide grants for land use planning ($2.6 million) and added technical assistance ($1 million) from the DCED's Center for Local Government Services.

knowledgeable breeding decisions.

"Some of us sell feeder cattle into this kind of an operation and never see the feedlots," said Donna Haldane, from Third Hill Farm in Shenendoah County, Virginia. "I usually send one load of cattle a year and I wanted to come up a see my customers.

"We're all looking for ways to make the business more profitable. It's a little risky and we're all a little risk-adverse. But we're open to other options and possibilities."

'We came to look at the other end of the deal, to get a better understanding of health problems, what we can do to help them avoid that, what they're feeding them, and what we can do to jump-start the cattle," said Haldane.

Cattle type was another hot topic of discussion as the feeders could be clear on the cattle which they'd prefer to feed. If given a choice between a tall or short animal, feeders determined that they would rather feed shorter cattle which may grade, rather than taller cattle, which take longer to grade Choice and then the carcass may be too heavy.

DAYCO SUPER II V-BELTS

Now there's a belt that beats the toughest drive problems.

Many heavy-duty industrial machines demand more than conventional wrapped v belts can stand Their punishing drives make ordinary belts crack under pressure The result unnecessary and expensive downtime

Now there s a solution to the consistent costly problem of replac ing or retensioning belts It s the revolutionary new Super II ' v-belt from Dayco The Super II belt was designed specifically for the most brutal applications And its performance blows the cover off conventional wrapped belts

In heavy torque high horsepower and extreme shock load comparisons it s not even a contest The Super II v-belt is stronger more flexible and lasts far longer

Innovative design & construction provide extra strength and stamina

The secret to the Super II v belt s durability is its unique construction The central position of the polyester cords in the neoprene rubber core provides greater strength balance and longer life Multiple fabric plies top and bottom enhance flex ibility And Dayco s unique raw-edged construction gives it a better grip for controlled slippage

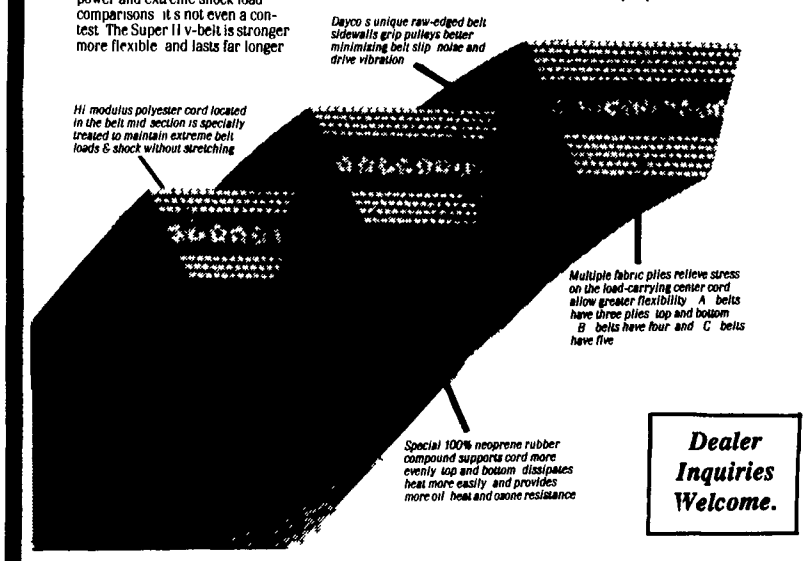
These attributes combined make the Super II belt superior to conventional wrapped belts in every way

Test the Super II v-belt on your toughest drive

The Super II v-belt was field tested for two years on the most severe applications rock quarry shaker screens lumber mill tree debarkers and pipe descalers In every case it outperformed conventional wrapped belts by a wide margin But the only test that really counts is the one you do on your own equipment

Try the Super II belt on your toughest drive problem You ll be so amazed by its incredible endurance that you ll want to put it on all your drives In fact we re so sure you ll be pleased with the performance of the Super II v-belt that in the unlikely event you re not satisfied we ll refund the original purchase price or replace it with a conventional wrapped v-belt

The Super II v-belt from Dayco The super problem solver



Dayco s unique raw-edged belt sidewalls grip pulleys better minimizing belt slip noise and drive vibration
Hi modulus polyester cord located in the belt mid section is specially treated to maintain extreme belt loads & shock without stretching
Multiple fabric plies relieve stress on the load-carrying center cord allow greater flexibility A belts have three plies top and bottom B belts have four and C belts have five
Special 100% neoprene rubber compound supports cord more evenly top and bottom dissipates heat more easily and provides more oil heat and ozone resistance

Fruitful Get Togethers

It's another glorious summer, the season of fruit. It's another chance to savor new flavors, colors, and textures.

But summer passes quickly. Prolong the enjoyment of nature's finest by turning your favorite summer fruits into easy-to-prepare jellies and jams.

Only four basic ingredients are needed to prepare jam or jelly: fruit, sugar, acid (such as lemon juice) and pectin. Pectin is the ingredient that makes your jam or jelly set up or gel. Although pectin is found naturally in fruits, some soft-spread recipes require adding additional pectin. using a commercial pectin and following the packaging instructions assures proper balance of ingredients and a good set.

QUINCE JELLY

6 cups prepared juice (about 4 pounds fully ripen quinces and 6 cups water)
7 cups (3 pounds) sugar
1 box Sure Jell fruit pectin

First prepare the juice. Remove blossom and stem ends from about 4 pounds quinces. Core (do not peel) and grind or finely chop. Place in saucepan; add 6 cups water. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 15 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and let drip. When dripping has almost ceased, press gently.

Measure 6 cups into 6- or 8-quart saucepan. Make the jelly. Measure sugar and set aside. Mix fruit pectin into juice in saucepan. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a full boil.

Immediately add all sugar and stir. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Ladle quickly into hot sterilized jars, filling to within ⅛ inch of tops, wipe jar rims and threads. Cover with two-piece lids. Screw bands tightly. Invert jars 5 minutes, then turn upright after one hour. Check seals. Or process in boiling water bath for 5 minutes. Makes about 8 ¾-cups or about 10 8-ounce jars.

This recipe is delicious and always a first prize winner at the fairs. I'm been using this recipe for about eight years.

BLUEBERRY-LEMON JAM

4½ cups blueberries
⅓ cup lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
6½ cups sugar
2 pouches fruit jel liquid pectin

Prepare home canning jars and lids according to manufacturer's instructions.

Combine blueberries, lemon peel and lemon juice in large saucepan. Add sugar, stirring to dissolve. Bring to a rolling boil over medium-high heat, stirring occasionally. Stir in liquid pectin. Boil hard one minute. Remove from heat. Skim off foam if necessary. Ladle hot jam into hot jars, leaving ¼-inch headspace. Wipe jar rim clean. Adjust cap.

Process 10 minutes in boiling-water canner. Yield: about eight 8-ounce jars.

GRAPE-PLUM JELLY

3½ pounds ripe plums
3 pounds ripe Concord grapes
1 cup water
½ teaspoon butter (optional ingredient to reduce foaming)
8½ cups sugar
1 box powdered pectin

Wash and pit plums; do not peel. Thoroughly crush plums and grapes, one layer at a time, in a saucepan. Add water. Bring to a boil, cover, and simmer 10 minutes. Strain juice through a jelly bag or double layer of cheesecloth. Measure sugar and set aside. Combine 6½ cups juice with butter and pectin in a large saucepan. Bring to a hard boil over heat, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, skim off foam, quickly fill into sterile half-pint jars, leaving ¼-inch headspace. Adjust lids and process the jars in boiling water bath for 5 minutes. Yields about 10 half pints.

Making Low-Sugar Jelly Could Put You In A Jam

You can't just use your regular jam or jelly recipes and leave the sugar out.

Sugar is an essential ingredient in jam and jelly recipes, and it must be available in the proper proportions with pectin and acid to make a good gel. Sugar is also a great preservative, and prevents the growth of microorganisms in your homemade goodies.

Besides, it also contributes to the flavor of the end product. The standard advice is to never change the amount of sugar in a jam or jelly recipe.

The good news is that, if you look hard enough, you'll find recipes that call for little or no added sugar. However, the pectin often called for in jam and jelly recipes does contain some sugar, so keep that in mind when making these recipes.

Other low- or no-sugar recipes rely upon special, modified pectin. This type of pectin is labeled "light," "less sugar" or "no sugar," and it's made with less sugar or with artificial sweeteners. Follow the directions on the package when you make the recipe.

Still other recipes call for unflavored gelatin as the thickener in the recipe. Again, some type of sweetener is often added. Some recipes call for an artificial sweetener to lighten the calorie load.

Finally, you can boil fruit pulp for an extended period of time. That will cause the pulp to thicken. It's not really a jam or

Farmers have generally earned a reputation as trusting souls.

They share tools and equipment, help one another out with supplies, trade field work and machinery parts, and think nothing of sealing business agreements with a promise and a handshake.

Farmers will stop to help one another when a flat tire leaves one stranded, heifers take to the hills or a combine catches fire. Few things more personify the rural good-neighbor policy groups which materialize almost out of nowhere and turn out to help a fellow farm who has been hit by disaster from wind, flood, fire or serious health problems.

Still, there has always been that small element of human nature which is willing to take advantage of the inherent trust of rural folks and turn it to their criminal advantage.

Sadly, rural crime is alive and well, as evidenced by a recent incident which happened to fellow dairy farmers here in southern York County. They sought to share their latest brush with crime in an effort to possibly thwart a repeat performance somewhere else in the area.

Two strangers stopped at Ed Johnson's son's home near the family dairy and crops farm late one recent evening, inquiring if they could have permission to hunt pigeons. Wild pigeon flocks tend to congregate and roost in most farm buildings in these parts of the country if they can gain any access, especially anywhere that has feed grain commodities, which offer plentiful eating. They mess up buildings, eat feed, litter hay supplies with droppings, and can carry disease and pest organisms, which can be harmful to domestic livestock, as well as to people.

So, especially if flocks have grown excessively large for a farmstead, wild pigeons become fair game for hunters, who can do a farmer, as well as neighbors and the general consuming public, a service by helping to reduce the source of potential livestock and human disease problems.

The family's son granted permission to the hunters, casually observing that it appeared the pigeon hunters were driving a battered pickup truck with a wooden crate on the bed.

Next morning, the Johnson's discovered that their two best heifer baby calves were missing from their pens in the calf-raising barn. The two calves happened to be ET's, embryo-transfer offspring, from some of the family's best polled registered Holstein bloodlines in their dairy herd. The pair of calves had been removed from a unit containing about a dozen; these two were the most valuable from the entire group, with none of the others disturbed.

Coincidental that they got the best? Maybe.

The eartags reportedly held no particular information that would identify the calves as being any more special or valuable than their pen mates. Inherently, suspicious person that I am, I find it hard to believe that thieves would just be lucky enough to grab the two best. If they have that good an eye for cattle, we should sign them up for dairy official judging training.

Family members immediately contacted the police and traveled to an area livestock auction to see if the missing calves might by chance turn up there. And in their visiting with other farmers, they spoke with a fellow producer who had lost a supply of bagged feed some months earlier, after granting pigeon hunting permission to a pair of strangers.

Coincidental? Maybe. (Makes perfect sense to me that someone who steals calves might also steal feed.)

My heart has a rock-hard spot in it toward cattle thieves since some 20 years ago, when our daughter's first beloved 4-H heifer was stolen, along with some less precious ones. We, too, never found a trace of them. But no one had asked permission to be on the property before Lassie vanished; they just sneaked in and stoled our heifers from an adjoining pasture not visible from our home.

"Maybe we can help alert someone, somewhere, so that this doesn't happen to them," say the Johnsons.

Cattle prices are beginning to nudge up a bit, so this kind of disgusting stuff might well be on the increase. Do your part to help take a bite out of rural crime: be suspicious, be questioning, be cautious, be alert, be wary of anyone you don't know asking to do anything on your property or if they appear to be "casing" the neighborhood.

If it doesn't "feel right" to have someone you don't really know on your property, just say "NO."

And write down their license number.

Lowfat Milk May Reduce Obesity Risk

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid East has great news for dairy farmers and dieters alike. According to a study published in the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology journal, Americans can still consume dairy products such as lowfat milk, yogurt, and cheese and continue to lose weight.

After controlling calories, physical activity and other factors, body fat was remarkably lower in people who consumed dairy products in the study.

"Mistakenly, people cut out milk, yogurt and cheese when trying to control weight gain or loss," says Ann Marie Krautheim, registered dietitian, director of nutrition communications for ADADC Mid East.

"Dietitians have known for some time that lowfat dairy foods may help reduce the risk of osteoporosis, high blood pressure, and possibly even colon cancer.

Family Summertime Fun

One of the most effective ways to build a strong family is to do things together. The family who routinely spends time together establishes a tremendous reserve or emotional bank account, that can be drawn upon when daily life becomes a bit tedious or trying.

The family who spends time together develops a pattern or habit of doing things together. Family members will enjoy being with each other. They develop the security and good feeling about each other and about themselves that is so vital to growing as human beings.

Time together just doesn't happen. Parents especially must plan it, setting aside time and minimizing distractions. It is good to plan time together on a regular basis. Skipping, canceling, or simply putting off is very disappointing to children. They may get the idea they are not important.

Planning time together is very rewarding in a number of ways. Besides deepening the bond with your child, you will see your child do new things — the excitement on your child's face after completing some activity is worth more than all the sacrifices you have made to set time aside. Planning time together helps families reap rewards and satisfaction that no amount of money can ever buy.

Here is a listing of activities you can do. Tape this sheet to your refrigerator and check off the activities you do together as a record of your good times. Consider starting a notebook or scrapbook and include some of your art work, stories, or photographs of your family.

Scholar Athlete Selected As Milk Mustache Of The Year Award Winner

PHILADELPHIA (Philadelphia Co.) — Louisa Hall, Haverford, has discovered that milk is as good for her mind as it is for her bones. As one of 25 Scholar Athlete Milk Mustache of the Year (SAMMY) Award winners, Louisa will receive a $7,500 college scholarship and star in a future Milk Mustache ad in USA Today, Sports Illustrated and ESPN Magazine.

Louisa, a recent graduate and valedictorian of Episcopal Academy, opts for milk as her favorite dairy product and said, "Milk and dairy products are important in your diet, especially to help prevent osteoporosis." She also noted that milk contains potassium, protein and Vitamin B, which are essential nutrients for athletes like her.

By having Louisa join the ranks of Milk Mustache MVPs such as Cal Ripken Jr., Mia Hamm, and Tony Hawk, the milk industry hopes to inspire other teens to opt for healthier beverage choices and begin to reverse the nationwide teen-age "calcium crisis." According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a majority of teens do not meet their daily calcium requirements. Nearly nine out of 10 teen-age girls and seven out of 10 teen-age boys are not getting enough calcium in their diets.

Selected from more than 6,500 nominees, Louisa was one of 25 winners named by judges Mia Hamm, Tony Hawk, Cal Ripken Jr., Jeff Gordon, and Pete Sampras. Winners were recognized at an award ceremony at the ESPN Club at Walt Disney World Resort in Lake Buena Vista, Fla., on June 24.

Potter County Selects First Dairy Princess in 10 Years

ULYSSES (Potter Co.) — Lori Ann (Angood) Thompson, 1990-91 Potter County Dairy Princess, recently received an honor she thought would never happen in her life time — the pleasure of crowning the first princess of the new millennium for Potter County. A revived interest in the dairy princess program has been born in this small farming community. A simple but elegant pageant was held at the Citizens First National Bank in Ulysses followed by a milk punch reception.

The dairy community was blessed with an amazing show of support for the dairy program and contestants. Dairy princess contestants included Sherri Kibbe, daughter of Donald and Debbie Kibbe of Harrison Valley, Pamela Cornell, daughter of Charles (Sonny) and Norma Cornell of Genesee, and Melissa Burdick, daughter of Richard and Cheryl Burdick of Harrison Valley.

Serving as judges for the evening were Lewis Gardener, Germania; Betty Jo (Douglas) Kulish, Sabinsville; and Bonnie Gilman of Little Marsh. After a short interview with each girl and observing their skits and speeches and answers to the impromptu question, the judges retired a short time while the crowd was introduced to the newly appointed dairy maids and ambassador Jessi Cornell and Patty Peangatelli, daughters of Edward and Michelle Cornell who reside in Ulysses; Emily Martin, daughter of Jody and Joan Martin, Ulysses; and Katie Thomas, daughter of Jack and Kathy Thomas Jr., Ulysses. Also representing the dairy industry as ambassadors this year will be Rachael Bachman, daughter of Mark and Melanie Bachman, Ulysses; and Ross Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas, Ulysses.

After the careful deliberation the panel of judges turned their decision over to Master of Ceremonies Mark Bachman, who proclaimed Melissa Burdick Potter County Dairy Princess and Pam Cornell and Sherri Kibbe, alternate dairy princesses of the new millennium.

Bookings may be arranged by contacting Peg Rotello at Ag Choice Farm Credit, 814-274-9425 or 1-800-327-6878.

For the first time in 10 years, Potter County has a dairy princess. Potter County Dairy Princess Melissa Burdick, center back, will be assisted in dairy promotion with the court surrounding her.

Three Springs Farm Provides Valuable Space For Teens

CAROLYN MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent

NAUVOO (Tioga County) — Peaceful calm in the center of teenage busyness is how one could describe the camp at Three Springs Farm where teenagers can come to retreat from the everyday pressures of their worlds, participate in Bible studies, and make new friends.

The farm is carved out of a 25-acre piece of rural Tioga County with a large mansion at its focal point. At first glance, the mansion rising up from the freshly mowed farm fields and horse pasture, seems out of place, almost like it was built for another time. In fact, it was built from 1914 to 1917 to house two families. But today, Jeff Rush uses every inch of the property, including the house and several outbuildings, for his ministry.

"This is something my wife and I always dreamed about doing before we were married," said Rush. "We worked with teenagers in our church as volunteer youth leaders. We loved working with kids and realized the value of getting kids out of their normal environment into a rural area where there's a lot of the distractions taken away."

Rush, although a native of Blooming Glen, Bucks County, knew about this area through his father's job with Hatfield. When he was young, he remembers coming up to the area and he continued his trips after getting married to Deanne, who was from nearby Dublin.

"When we were only married a year, I was up here hunting in 1983, and just happened to drive by the property, which was obviously abandoned. The grass was high and windows were broken out. I'm convinced that it was the Lord starting to click some thoughts saying that this was a great place to do what we wanted to do," said Rush.

So, he made an appointment with Abe Clemens, who owned the property, and told him about his plans. After several weeks, Clemens gave the nod, and Three Springs Ministries was born.

"(The property) needed a lot of work to get it to the point where we could use it. Initially we were just looking at using the house," said Rush.

When the house was ready, the doors were opened for the first groups of people.

"Really our first small retreat groups that we had would have been in the fall of 1984. That's when we began with groups of 15-24 on weekends," said Rush.

The first weeklong camp was in the summer of 1985, which had three campers making the trip to the farm.

Now almost every weekend from September through May and the week-long summer camps are filled to capacity. Youth groups, family groups, and even senior citizen Sunday School classes are among frequent visitors to the camp. "Probably about 75 percent of the whole ministry that we do in the course of a year is to teenagers. That's by design," said Rush.

Three Springs Ministries had a long term lease agreement with the Clemens family, to use the facility, but recently they were happy to receive the deed to the property.

"The Clemens family deeded over to the ministry 25 acres. Over the years we've put a lot of sweat equity as well as money into the place and we had a long term lease agreement, but Mr. Clemens is now 85 years old and he wanted to make sure things continued. He was thrilled to see what was happening. There are about 2,000 kids going through here each year," explained Rush.

Three Springs is starting a year-long program for college age interns, adding to an already busy schedule.

As the number of campers increased, so did the need for more usable space, so the workers began renovating the outbuildings, trying to keep as much original detail as possible.

The first floor of the mansion is now devoted entirely to dining and kitchen areas. Currently they can seat 65-70 diners at a time. The second story and the recently remodeled third floor provides sleeping areas.

"There are seven bedrooms on the second floor. In the house alone, we can sleep 55 people," said Rush.

In 1995, workers tore apart a 100-year-old horse barn and used the timbers to construct a building simply called, "the barn." The first floor offers ample space for worship and other organized activities in an auditorium, while the second floor houses a large game room and snack bar area. On the third floor loft, campers can curl up in a corner with a book or find a comfortable spot to chat with friends. Another building that now sleeps 11 campers has a kitchen space and living area, which was once a hog stable.

"We tell the kids when they come that they'll be staying in the pig stable, but that does not give them permission to act like pigs!" Rush said with a laugh. "But needless to say, sometimes they don't need permission!" Yet another outbuilding that was once the summer kitchen still sports the large stone fireplace in the center. Today they call it the summerhouse and 12 campers can sleep in the building.

Backpack weeks, horse back weeks, mountain bike camps,

Campers enjoy a game of football in the field in front of the mansion that was the original building for the camp. Over the years, the workers have remodeled the mansion and outbuildings to accommodate their needs.

Behind the main house stand several outbuildings including a small barn they call "the stable", which not too many years ago housed live pigs and now serves as housing for campers. The remodeled barn, right, holds 23 horses that are used for trail rides throughout the summer.

week-long residential camps, and weekend retreats are all part of the package that focuses the kids' attention on Christian values and beliefs.

In a typical day at the residential camp, the staff is onboard at 7:15 a.m. for a meeting. Breakfast is at 8:30 followed by personal devotion time for the kids.

"The kids are told to separate around the grounds. They have study guides and their Bibles," explained Rush.

At about 9:30 a.m., the group comes together for group worship and singing followed by a teaching time. Then the kids again break up into groups to discuss the morning's topic. The morning learning sessions are followed by an organized game such as volleyball, soccer and other sports. Right before lunch they come together again to give kids the opportunity to interact with the staff.

"We call this time "hot topics' and we give the kids the opportunity to ask all kinds of questions — questions about dating relationships, parents, the world in general, and sometimes Biblical questions," Rush said.

Following lunch, the kids have an hour of elected activities including archery, horseback riding, craft projects and exercise activities among other things.

The kids also get plenty of free time in the afternoon for swimming, hiking, fishing or other activities.

After supper, the group comes together once again for some singing and teaching time and then they enjoy a planned evening activity followed by more free time. At about 10:30, the group is called together once again to talk about the day's activities and everyone retreats to their cabins for a good night's sleep.

The schedule for the wilderness activity weeks are very different. Kids choose either the mountain biking camp or horseback riding camps. With the mountain bike riding camp, staff members take the kids to a predetermined spot and the kids plan their route to get to the next predetermined campsite, working their way back to the home camp on a 150-mile trek. On the horseback riding camps, kids go on a weeklong trailride, covering 15-17 miles a day for a 100-mile round trip.

To tote the gear needed for a whole week, campers get a cubicle of space in a trailer that gets moved from campsite to campsite by staff members. Also in the trailer is a food storage area and a fresh supply of drinking water.

"What the kids do is pack up camp in the morning, lock up the trailer and just leave. Then one of our staff goes out during the day, and we hook on the trailer and move it to the next campsite. We unhook it and leave.

"When campers arrive, the trailer is there, and they can set up camp. What's nice is especially with the horseback weeks, we have an opportunity to resupply with hay and feed. We don't have to worry about grazing animals," explained Rush.

Three Springs also offers backpack weeks where older students hike through the wilderness carrying everything they need in their packs.

Camp members learn leadership and planning skills through these activities.

"This year offers 10 different wilderness weeks and as far as residential camps. There are three that we actually sponsor and staff ourselves and there are several that we do the support work and provide the facility. Some churches in Southern Pennsylvania have a large high school ministry and might bring 50-60 kids from one church. For those, we just fill in the gaps - provide some of the activities and the food, and sometimes some teaching and leading music," Rush explained.

To run the camp, there are seven full-time staff members with additional staff in the summer, and a full-time nine member board of directors, which oversees all activities. Board members are from various backgrounds including business and ministry. Jeff and Deanne's three sons, Aaron, 14; Seth, 12; and Adam, 8, also take part in the work and fun of living at a year-round retreat center.

"I like it, I have lots of friends that come up and it gives me lots to do!" said Aaron.

Part of living on Three Spring Farm is also raising food for both the campers and the livestock. "We put up about 3,000 bales of hay each year and farm some ground that belongs to the neighbors," said Rush.

They also raise some beef animals, butchering two to three each year as food for the campers, have a small orchard, processing about 100 gallons of applesauce every year, and have grown their own sweet corn. This year they will purchase sweet corn from a neighboring farmer, but still plan to process about 2,000 ears. They also raise their own potatoes and other fresh vegetables.

"There's lots of reasons to do this. Cost is one factor, and we think we can have better food quality than going out and buying it," said Rush.

All these activities add up to a full schedule for both campers and workers alike, but the Rush family wouldn't have it any other way.

According to board member Todd Morehart, the camp works because of Jeff Rush's ability to stick to his founding principles.

"Jeff's premise that he founded the camp on was to minister to teens from 13 to 19 years old, and to get them into a saving knowledge of their creator. Everything that happens here is towards that end, for sure," said Morehart.

ANSWER — Dawn Black, Chambersburg, wanted a recipe for homemade butter pecan ice cream. Here is a different recipe than that printed last week. Shirley Wartzenluft, Robesonia, writes that the family really likes the recipe, which can easily be doubled or tripled for larger batches.

Butter Pecan Ice Cream

4 tablespoons butter
⅔ cup coarsely chopped pecans
1½ teaspoons plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
⅓ cup mild-flavored honey
1¼ cups half and half
1 cup heavy cream
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

In skillet, melt 2 tablespoons butter over low heat. Saute pecans until golden brown. Set aside. In bowl, sprinkle gelatin over cold water. Let stand 12 to 15 minutes to soften.

In a heavy saucepan, combine honey, ¼ cup half and half, and remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Heat over low heat, stirring occasionally until honey is dissolved. Add gelatin mixture, stir until gelatin is dissolved (do not let boil).

Pour into a bowl and cool to room temperature. Add remaining one cup of half and half, cream, and vanilla. Chill thoroughly. Process in an ice cream machine, adding pecans when almost done, or stir in pecans when processing is finished. Yield: 1 quart.

ANSWER — Here are some more recipes in answer to the request of ideas for feeding a houseful of company for a week. Thanks to a Newburg reader for sending these.

Breakfast Casserole

8-12 slices bread, cubed OR 6-8 cups cold, shredded cooked potatoes
8 eggs, beaten
1 pound chipped ham, hot dogs, sausage or bacon
1 cup shredded cheese
Salt

If using sausage or bacon, fry and drain.

Place bread or potatoes in bottom of 9x13-inch baking pan. Sprinkle with salt or seasoning. Pour beaten eggs over bread or potatoes. (A bit of milk can be added to the eggs if you wish). Top with meat. Bake at 325-350 degrees for 45-60 minutes. When done, top with cheese, return to oven until cheese is melted. May be made ahead and frozen before baking.

Baked Oatmeal

½ cup butter, melted
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup brown sugar
3 cups oatmeal
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
Raisins, coconut, chopped fruit (optional)

Mix butter, eggs, and brown sugar, add remaining ingredients. Can be mixed the night before. Use a 9-inch square pan or baking dish. Bake at 350-degrees for 45 minutes. Delicious for breakfast or as shortcake.

Can be put in the microwave and baked in a covered casserole on high for 15 minutes. Turn dish halfway through if microwave doesn't have a turntable. Remove cover after cooking.

ANSWER — A reader wrote that she is new at canning and freezing and would like a good recipe for tomato pasta sauce and instructions on how to freeze it. Thanks to Ann Ella Larue for e-mailing this recipe.

Frozen Homemade Tomato Sauce

½ bushel tomatoes
1 cup parsley
2 teaspoons basil
6 garlic cloves

Press tomatoes through a coarse sieve or food mill. Return tomatoes to kettle. Chop garlic, onions, and parsley in blender, add to tomatoes along with remaining ingredients, and heat to boiling. Reduce heat, cook uncovered for about 4 hours, until sauce reaches desired consistency. To freeze, pack cool in jars, leaving one-inch space on top. Will keep one year.

Busy Day Tomorrow Casserole

1 cup milk
1 can cream of mushroom or celery soup

Pizza Flavored Casserole

1 pound ground beef
⅓ cup chopped onion
1 teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon salt
1 can tomato soup
⅓ cup water
2 cups cooked noodles or macaroni
½ cup shredded cheese

Brown beef and onion. Cook noodles or macaroni. Mix together all ingredients except cheese. Spread cheese on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

jelly product, but it might resemble one close enough for your purposes. Depending on the sweetness of the fruit, some sugar or artificial sweetener may be added to make the pulp palatable.

Nutritionists warn that jams and jellies that do not use sugar could be more perishable than traditional jams and jellies. They should be processed and stored according to the recipe's instructions.

- 1 package (1-¾-oz.) no-sugar-needed pectin
- 9 to 10 packets Equal® sweetener or 2-¾ to 3 teaspoons Equal®Measure™
- 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice

1. Prepare four ½-pint freezer jars according to manufacturer's instructions.

2. Chop grapes to make 4 cups. Place grapes in strainer over glass measuring cup to drain juice, and add enough grape juice to make 1 cup total.

3. Combine grapes, juice and tarragon in medium saucepan; add pectin slowly, stirring constantly to prevent lumps. Heat to boiling over medium-high heat, stirring constantly to avoid scorching. Boil and stir one minute.

4. Remove saucepan from heat; skim foam, if necessary. Let stand one to two minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in sweetener and lemon juice.

5. Fill freezer jars within ½-inch of top. Wipe jar rims; cover with lids. Let stand at room temperature four hours. Refrigerate until chilled, or place jam in freezer. Jam may be stored up to three weeks in refrigerator or in freezer up to six months. Makes four ½-pint jars.

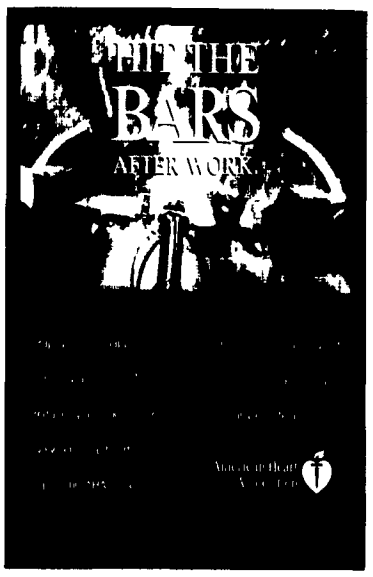
Schools Win Big For Drinking Milk In Cartons For Computers Contest

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Can drinking milk help students develop strong bones and connect to new computers? Just ask the students of St. Wendelin School in Butler, Pa. The school was named a regional prize winner in the 4th Annual Cartons for Computers Contest.



As a regional prize winner, St. Wendelin School was awarded $2,000 in computer equipment and $500 in food service equipment.

Sponsored by the Milk Mustache Campaign, the National Dairy Council®, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program (PDPP), and American Dairy Association & Dairy Council Mid East, the Cartons for Computers Contest challenges schools to drink more milk to win great prizes.

More than 5,000 schools competed to increase their per student per day milk consumption while educating students on the importance of getting nine essential nutrients, including calcium in their diets. St. Wendelin School was awarded a prize for having the largest increase in milk consumption in their region.

Rose Kostelnik, principal of St. Wendelin's school said, "The kids were really excited about the contest. They really enjoyed the milk breaks. We really appreciate this opportunity for our school. Without the contest, we wouldn't have been able to purchase the new equipment."

"Cartons for Computers not only teaches students the bone-building benefits of milk," said Joyce Abercrombie, director of school programs for ADADC Mid East. "It also gives schools an opportunity to win computer equipment as an incentive and helps educators teach students strong technology skills."

"With this contest, dairy farmers are winners too, since all of the participating schools served more milk than usual during the promotion period," said Cindy Weimer, spokesperson for PDPP.

Twenty-nine schools from throughout the nation were awarded nearly $100,000 in prizes in this year's contest. Syracuse Junior High in Syracuse, Utah and St. John's Lutheran School in Waco, Neb. were the grand prize winners in the contest.

Ida's Notebook

by

Ida Risser

Sometimes when one is young, we look at older people and tell ourselves that we won't be like that when we are older. Maybe it is in their attitude or maybe their manner of disciplining children or whatever. Then many years later we do almost the same things. Let's hope there is some improvement in our manner.

In my parent's old age, I felt that their social life was attending funerals and going to the doctor. It seemed as though that was all that they did in addition to going to church and visiting children.

Now we must be careful that we do not fall into the same pattern. It seems that so many of our acquaintances have died in the last year or so. And, as we get older, doctors do find more problems.

In regard to growing old, a friend of mine said that when she looks in the mirror in the morning, she says, "Hello Mother." We do grow to resemble our parents for better or worse.

But as long as Allen and I can maintain four big gardens, we don't feel so very old. We've both been battling weeds in the asparagus and in the sweet corn. If I can get the 75-foot row of green beans picked, that he planted, I'm not sure if I will feel young or old.

Last year we only had enough beans to eat and so this year should be more than enough to freeze. Many years ago, I canned beans but no longer do I boil them for three hours in a big blue canner. Some things do change for the better.

Batter Up!

Born in 1819 in New York, Abner Doubleday is usually credited with inventing baseball However, more recent studies reveal that he may have come up with the rules for baseball, but he really didn't invent the game

Although legend has it that Doubleday invented baseball in Cooperstown, New York, baseball historians do not agree Some say Doubleday never even visited Cooperstown, which is now the home of the Baseball Hall of Fame

Those who have studied it believe that baseball came from ball-and-stick games all over the world, and that one person cannot be named as the inventor. The Russian game lapta—along with the English games paddleball, trap ball, rounders and town ball—may have all made baseball what it is today

Whether or not he invented baseball, Doubleday led a full life. Before entering West Point, Doubleday was a civil engineer He graduated from West Point in 1842 Doubleday served in the Mexican War from 1846 to 1848 and in the Seminole War in Florida from 1856 to 1858 He was even at Fort Sumter when the first shots of the Civil War were fired

Rising Water

Because it can happen in every state, flooding is the most common natural hazard in the United States

Flooding can happen when it rains too much, rivers overflow snow melts too fast ocean waves come on shore or dams break Whether it's only a few inches or it covers a house, it's still known as flooding

If there is a chance for flooding where you live, here are some things you can do

- Flood water may be contaminated Stay away from it
- Do not go near power lines on the ground You could be electrocuted
- Because it can knock you off your feet, do not walk through moving water
- If you have to walk through water, use a stick to test how deep the water is in front of you
- Keep a battery-powered radio with you
- If you can, move valuable items to a higher floor in your home
- Don't forget your pets
- If there is time, move garden furniture inside

Talk to an adult about what the flood means, what you should do and how you can help For more information on other types of storms check out the Federal Emergency Management Association Web site at www.fema.gov/kids/.

Making Jams, Jellies and Preserves

Anyone can successfully make jams, jellies, and preserves with a few simple pieces of equipment, reliable modern tested recipes and a little know-how.

Basically these products are much alike; all of them are fruit preserved by sugar. Their individual characteristics depend on the kind of fruit used, its preparation, the proportions of ingredients and the method of cooking.

Use Four Essential Ingredients In Correct Proportion:

• Fruit for flavor and pectin and acid required for successful gels.

• Pectin helps the product gel. Most fruits have some natural pectin, others require additional pectin. It comes in two forms, liquid and powdered. Most people prefer to add to low pectin fruits because it cuts down on cooking time and result in a fresher tasting product. Added pectin products are also of more consistent quality.

• Pectin should be stored in cool dry place and should not be used after the expiration date on the package. It is possible to make jams and jellies without sugar. It can help dieters and persons on a low sugar diet add the luxury of jellied products to their meals. Keep in mind, however, it will not taste exactly like "grandma's homemade jam." Again, follow the recipes exactly as indicated with the gel forming product. Do not double the recipe or alter the recipes, which might cause the product to be runny and not gel properly.

• Acid is needed for flavor and gel formulation. Since acid content of fruits vary, some may not need additional acid. Lemon juice or citric acid are commonly used in making jellied products.

• Sugar helps form gel formation, contributes to the flavor and serves as a preserving agent. It also has a firming effect on the fruit.

Equipment And Containers Needed:

• A large kettle for cooking the product is essential; eight or ten-quart size with a flat bottom is best.

• For jelly, a commercial jelly bag or several thickness of firm unbleached muslin will work best.

• If you choose to make a jellied product without adding commercial pectin a jelly, candy or deep fat thermometer will be helpful.

• For processing jellied products you will need a large kettle with rack in the bottom, deep enough to hold jars with about one inch of water to cover jars. A boiling water bath canner is ideal.

• One-half pint or one pint canning jars with two piece lids are recommended for jellied fruit products. Be sure jar tops are perfect with no chips or cracks on the sealing surface. The insert portions of two piece lids should be used only once and purchased new lids each year. Old lids tend to dry out and the sealing compound can become ineffective.

• Other useful equipment includes tongs, a wide mouth funnel, long handled wooden spoon, measuring cups, a quart glass measure and a clock with a second hand.

Making And Storing Jellied Fruit Products:

You will have the best results if you use recipes that accompany commercial pectin or from a reputable cookbook. Follow recipes precisely; measure carefully and time the cooking time exactly for best results. Pennsylvania State University food technologists recommend sterilizing jars for 15 minutes before filling and processing five minutes in a boiling waterbath. Always carefully wipe sealing edge of jars before placing lids on them; this will insure a tight seal.

For best shelf-life, jellied products should be stored in a cool, dry and dark place.

No-cook products can also be made following recommended recipes. They can be stored for three weeks in the refrigerator or in the freezer for longer periods.

Ready To Try It?

Keep in mind the importance of proper equipment, a reliable recipe and processing in boiling waterbath and you can make perfect jellied fruit products for your family. NOW UPDATED WITH ROADS !

Why every fisherman needs these maps

It is estimated that 10% of all the fishermen catch 90% of the fish. Regardless of which group you fall into... there's a sure way to up your odds... simply try new fishing waters. Fish where few fishermen ever fish.

Professor Higbee's Stream Maps are the first and only highly detailed maps of their kind... showing virtually all of the streams, rivers and lakes in each state.

Professor Higbee's® STREAMS

The STREAM MAP OF PENNSYLVANIA was completed in 1965 after a thirty-year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

The map is also known as the LOST STREAM MAP to some anglers.

Professor Higbee succeeded in creating a map of the highest detail possible...a map that shows every stream and lake. He painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto a 3 x 5 foot map.

The map sold extremely well -- until it was lost several years later. Incredibly, the printer entrusted with the original drawing and printing plates declared bankruptcy, then carelessly hauled Higbee's 30 years of work to a landfill.

The few remaining dog-eared copies became a prized fisherman's possession. Professor Higbee was offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.

Experts told Professor Higbee that reprints were impossible, because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue.

Then, in 1991, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map. Holding an updated map, Howard said, "I never thought I'd live to see this day."

RAVE REVIEWS

"It is in showing where to find out-of-the-way trout streams that makes the map such a treasure to the fisherman

Redwood Tree A Fossil?

Why is a dawn redwood tree a living fossil?

The Metasequoia or Dawn Redwood tree is a cousin of the mammoth redwood trees that grow in California. Dawn redwoods are deciduous and coniferous. That means they shed their leaves, but at the same time, they're conifers, or cone-bearing trees. Millions of years ago, dawn redwoods were common and they grew on several different continents. Eventually, the trees died off and until recently, scientists thought the dawn redwood tree was extinct. Why? Because they couldn't find a living tree anywhere-only fossil samples that were millions of years old.

In 1941, a Chinese forester discovered a strange tree growing in a mountain village in China. He had never seen a tree like it before. The man sent samples from the tree to a scientist at Harvard University.

The scientist concluded that the mystery tree was a dawn redwood. The tree wasn't extinct after all! Because of this discovery, the dawn redwood was nicknamed the "living fossil." More samples were collected from the tree and seedlings, grown from those samples, were sent to arboretums (large parks where people study trees) all over the world.

Today, dawn redwood trees are becoming more popular. Wouldn't it be neat to buy a seedling at a nursery and plant it in your yard? You'd have your own living fossil.

Homemade Pie Fillings Pack Flavor And Nutrition

Nancy Wiker, family living and consumer science agent, demonstrates the convenience of having home canned pie filling on hand.

Workshops are the ideal places to have cooking mysteries solved and learn why cooking failures sometimes happen. Another plus is that participants can taste the dishes used for demonstration to determine whether or not they want to duplicate the recipes at home.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — If you've tasted homemade pie fillings, you'll never want to resort to store-purchased varieties again.

This is the season to gather tree- and vine-ripen fruits and preserve them for use during cold, winter months. Some freeze or can the fruit and make the pie filling when needed. But if you prepare the pie filling ahead of time, it is much more convenient to use on the spur of the moment — and the taste is unbeatable.

Nancy Wiker, family living and consumer science agent, conducted a pie filling workshop recently at the Lancaster Extension kitchen. She demonstrated making pie filling using fresh peaches, blueberries, and cherries, and addressed problems that cooks face when preparing pie fillings.

Remember to select sweet, very ripe, but firm, vividly-colored fruit. If fruit is unripe or overly-ripe, the end result is not as favorable or as eye-appealing.

Numerous thickeners are available for making pies. The most traditional are flour and corn starch. However, in recent years, Clear Jel has become a favorite among bakers.

Clear Jel is a corn starch that has been modified to give it special and unique characteristics when used in food products. It can be used for canning fruit pie fillings because it does not break down in the acid food mixtures and does not thicken enough during heat processing to interfere with the killing effect on bacteria during canning.

Clear Jel is preferred for thickening canned pie fillings as well as other foods because it has less or no aftertaste, the thickened juices are smooth and clear, and foods thickened with Clear Jel may be frozen.

However, there are two forms of Clear Jel — regular and instant. "Do not use instant Clear Jel for pie fillings," Wiker warned workshop participants. Instant Clear Jel must be mixed thoroughly with sugar or it will glob or string.

Clear Jel is not always available in supermarkets. You can often find it where bulk foods are sold or mailorder from the following sources:

Kitchen Krafts, P.O. Box 442, Waukon, IA 52172.

Sweet Celebrations/Maid of Scandinavia, 7009 Washington Ave. S, Edina, MN 55439.

Home Canning Essentials (Altrista), P.O. Box 2005, Muncie, IN 47307-0005.

Wiker also advises cooks to stick to the same brand of flour as flours react differently.

Corn starch, Clear Jel, and other thickeners lose their thickening ability as they age so discard outdated items.

Sugar does more than sweeten fruit. In cooking and baking, sugar helps fruit to keep its shape.

Many pie filling recipes call for lemon juice. Wiker said lemon juice should be added after the filling is thickened, because lemon juice prevents thickening.

Here are some pie fillings tested by Penn State Extension. Amounts are given for one pie. Multiply amounts as needed. For example, if your canner processes seven quarts, multiply each ingredient amount by seven.

BLUEBERRY PIE FILLING
1-quart

- 3½ cups fresh or thawed blueberries
- ¼ cup plus 2 tablespoons granulated sugar
- ¼ cup plus 1 tablespoon Clear Jel
- 1 cup cold water
- 3½ teaspoons bottled lemon juice
- 3 drops blue food coloring
- 1 drop red food coloring

Wash and drain blueberries. For fresh fruit, place six cups at a time in one gallon boiling water. Boil each batch one minute after the water returns to a boil. Drain but keep heated fruit in a covered bowl or pot. Combine sugar and Clear Jel in a large kettle. Stir. Add water, and, if desired, food coloring. Cook on medium-high heat until mixture thickens and begins to bubble. Add lemon juice and boil one minute, stirring constantly. Fold in drained berries, fill jars immediately with mixture, leaving one-inch headspace, and process without delay.

CHERRY PIE FILLING
1-quart

- 3⅓ cups fresh or thawed sour cherries
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- ¼ cup plus 1 tablespoon Clear Jel
- 1⅓ cups cold water
- 1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon bottled lemon juice
- ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon (optional)
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- 6 drops red food coloring (optional)

Select very ripe, firm, tart cherries. Rinse and pit cherries, and hold in cold water. To prevent stem end browning, hold pitted cherries in water containing one teaspoon ascorbic acid crystals or six 500 mg vitamin C tablets in one gallon water. For fresh fruit, place six cups at a time in one gallon boiling water. Boil each batch one minute after the water returns to a boil. Drain but keep heated fruit in a covered bowl or pot. Combine sugar and Clear Jel in large saucepan. Add water and, if desired, cinnamon, food coloring, and almond extract. Stir mixture and cook over medium-high heat until mixture thickens and begins to bubble. Add lemon juice and boil one minute, stirring constantly with mixture, leaving one-inch headspace, and process without delay.

PEACH PIE FILLING
1-quart

- 3½cups fresh sliced peaches
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- ¼ cup plus 1 tablespoon Clear Jel
- ¾ cup cold water
- ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
- ⅛ teaspoon almond extract
- ¼ cup bottled lemon juice

Select ripe but firm peaches.

Peel peaches. To loosen skins submerge peaches in boiling water for 30-60 seconds, and place in cold water for 20 seconds. Slip off skins and prepare slices ½-inch wide. Place slices in water containing 1 teaspoon ascorbic acid crystals or six 500-mg vitamin C tablets in one gallon of water to prevent browning. For fresh fruit, place 6 cups at a time in one gallon boiling water. Boil each batch one minute after the water returns to a boil. Drain but keep heated fruit in a covered bowl or pot. Combine sugar, Clear Jel, water, and cinnamon or almond extract in a large kettle. Stir and cook on medium high heat until mixture thickens and begins to bubble. Add lemon juice and boil sauce one minute more, stirring constantly. Fold in drained peach slices and continue to heat for 3 minutes, then fill jars with mixture, leaving one-inch headspace, and process without delay.

PROCEDURE FOR CANNING ALL FILLINGS

Wash jars. Prepare lids according to manufacturer's instructions. Fill fruit mixtures into jars, leaving one-inch headspace. Wipe sealing surface of jars with a clean, damp paper towel. Add lids, tighten screw bands, and process.

To process in a boiling water canner, preheat canner half-filled with water to 180-degrees. Load sealed jars into the canner rack and lower with handles; or load one jar at a time with a jar lifter onto rack in canner. Add water if needed to a level of one-inch above jars and cover. When water boils vigorously, lower heat to maintain a gentle boil and process for recommended time: Apple fruit filling, pints or quarts - 25 minutes. Blueberry, cherry, and peach pie filling - 30 minutes.

After processing is completed, remove jars from canner with a jar lifter and place on towel or rack. Do not retighten screw bands. Air-cool jars 12 to 24 hours. Remove screw bands and check lid seals. A jar is sealed if the center of its lid is indented or concave. Wash, dry, label, and store sealed jars in a clean, cool, dark place. If a jar is unsealed, examine and replace if it is defective, use a new lid, and reprocess as before. Wash screw bands and store separately. Fillings are best if used one year and safe as long as lids remain vacuum sealed.

Participants discover that pie fillings also make tasty cobblers.

ANSWER — Charlotte Lippincott, Pilesgrove, N.J., wanted to know how to start Royal Paulowina trees with purple flowers. She had picked up some seed pods last winter. Thanks to Vertis Bream, Aspers, who writes that Paulowinia seed pods contain hundreds of tiny seeds that resemble tomato seeds. The seeds should be treated like tomato seeds. Sprinkle them over sterile soil in a tray and lightly cover with a light layer of medium peat, or thin layer of fine sand, or thin layer of potting soil. Keep moist. Misting works best. You can also cover the tray with plastic film to retain moisture by allowing an air space between the film and growing medium. The tiny seedlings are very fragile and suculent.

Transplant to pots. Allow to grow 8-12-inches high. Harden off and transplant on a cloudy, damp day. Provide shade for a week or two. Never let them dry out. Provide wind

Dairy Maids To Represent Lycoming Dairy Industry

NISBET (Lycoming Co.) — Lycoming County Dairy Princess Program held its 25th reunion recently. This was held at the Nisbet Volunteer Fire Hall. The coronation started with a puppet show written by Donnica Greider and performed by Danna McClain and Vanessa Greider. The skit demonstrated the importance of milk.

The dairy industry will be represented by dairy maids, Sara Ulrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ulrich, Montgomery; Sarah Shutts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Shutts, Jersey Shore; Donnica Greider and Vanessa Greider, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Greider, Linden; Rebecca Ulmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ulmer, Linden; Danna McClain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott McClain, Cogan Station; and Lora Fry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Fry, Trout Run; were crowned by Pennsylvania State Alternate Dairy Princess, Becky Kilgore. Each girl gave a short speech about their families, activities, and why they wanted to be a dairy maid.

After the crowning of the new dairy maids, former princesses, alternates, and committee members were recognized. The original committee members were presented with a painted milk bucket commemorating the 25th Reunion. The evening ended with an ice cream social.

Financial Calculators Show Benefits Of Saving

FLEMINGTON, N.J. — Several cardboard "slide rule" type calculators are available that, despite their apparent simplicity, provide a large amount of detailed information about the growth of savings over time.

The principle behind them is that, even small amounts of money, especially if placed in tax-deferred savings vehicles (e.g., 401(k)s and IRAs), will grow to significant sums over time.

The large New York pension firm TIAA-CREF (800-842-2733) developed a slide rule, called "Tax Savings Calculator." The calculator shows the monthly tax savings available for various amounts contributed monthly to tax-deferred plans (e.g., 401(k)s). The tax savings is calculated by multiplying the amount saved by a person's marginal tax bracket.

On the flip side of the TIAA-CREF slide rule is another set of tables called "Compound Interest Calculator." This calculator shows how much an investor can accumulate by making various monthly contributions that earn various rates of interest over specified periods of time. Obviously, the longer one saves, and the more they earn on their money, the more they'll accumulate.

Another helpful slide rule is the "401(k) Booster Calculator" from Advantage Publications (800-323-6809). This calculator shows what investing just one percent more of your pay will grow to in a tax-deferred savings plan. For example, one percent of a $30,000 salary is $300. For a 40-year old, an extra $300 contributed each year to a 401(k) plan would grow to $33,835.

protection if necessary. Paulownia trees like full sun. More in depth information can be obtained from the American Paulownia Association of which Vertis is a member. Write to the association at 16345 Mt. Tabor Rd., Hagerstown, MD 21740.

Thanks to a reader who writes that they have Paulowina trees with small seedlings sprouting up along buildings and walks. These are available for transplanting if Charlotte would like to try it. Write to the Shirks at 300 Forest Hill Rd., Leola, PA 17540.

ANSWER — For the reader who wanted good used bicycles, Lawrence Schoenly, Barto, has some to sell. Call him at (610) 845-2779. Also Vernon Miller, Hershey, has some to sell. Call him at (717) 533-9725.

ANSWER — Samuel Skokut, Ruffs Dale, writes that an article stated that red clover tea can boost immunity and ward off hay fever attacks. He wanted to know how to make his own tea. Thanks to Anne Wiegle of Springhill Farm for e-mailing the following information. To make an infusion, use hot water, not boiling. Steep 2 teaspoons flowering tops in a half cup water for 10 minutes. Take 1 to 1½ cups a day, with or without honey, a mouthful at a time.

Red clover tea is a diuretic, expectorant that has been popular as European Folk medicine. The tea made from flowering tops is believed to stimulate liver and gallbladder activity and is taken for constipation and sluggish appetite. Anne said the information included in The Herb Book by John Lust does not mention using the tea to ward off hay fever, but, she writes, it may work since the liver and gall bladder purify the body.

ANSWER — Stephen A. Lapp, 69 Long Lane, Kirkwood, wanted to know how to dehull oats and spelts. He has a mill to crimp them for oatmeal but doesn't know how to get rid of the hulls. Thanks to Anne Wiegle, Pottstown, who writes that the best way to learn how to dehull oats and spelts is to attend the Old Thresherman's Reunion, which is held in August a Kinzers, Pa. She believes to winnow grain, pick a breezy day, spread out a tarp and put the flailed grain on it. Use a plastic grain scoop shovel to toss it into the air. The wind will blow away the chaff, and the grain will fall back down onto the tarp.

Top Producers Choose Knight!

Congratulations to the La-Foster Farm

Terry and Gerald Foster are very proud of their record-breaking cow, Lucy, and rightly so. She produced 75,260 pounds of milk in her last lactation. They are also pleased with their Knight Reel Auggie® mixers, which, combined with the Foster's excellent management practices, have propelled the La-Foster herd average to the #1 milk production status in North Carolina. There is no comparison to the complete, palatable blend from a Knight Reel Auggie, with its patented reel and auger blending combination. Why else would the La-Foster Farm choose only Knight to feed their record-setting herd?

Why is the DMI ecolo-til 2500 with No-Till shanks from Hoober becoming the ideal tillage tool for achieving greater yield and profit potential? Because the DMI ecolo-til 2500 breaks through the hardpan unlike conventional tillage tools. The result? The DMI ecolo-til 2500 with patented tiger-points provides excellent fracture of compaction to increase water absorption and air exchange for better nutrient flow up and down the soil profile and root system. This process provides warmer soil in the spring for earlier planting plus it delivers more uniform crop germination. And using the DMI ecolo-til 2500 with No-Till shanks results in even less soil disturbance than other deep tillage shanks.

The DMI ecolo-til 2500 Advantage

- Controls Compaction
- Increases Water Absorption and Air Exchange
- Provides Warmer Soil in Spring for Earlier Planting
- Achieves More Uniform Crop Germination
- Greater Yield and Profit Potential

Cut and dried

Kuhn's FC series Mower Conditioners—faster cutting, faster drying, better hay. But what else would you expect from the recognized worldwide leader in mower conditioner technology? Kuhn applied over 160 years of research to build a mower conditioner that cuts quicker and requires less dry down than many other systems on the market. And Kuhn's FC series is easy on your crop. With a choice of finger comb or roller conditioning, you can match your crop type for even and gentle conditioning with less nutrient loss.

Two jobs, one tool: It's a tedder and a rake

The Model 255 rake tedder is a flexible machine - it's the tedder that also rakes

- Rake a swath into a windrow
- Rake two windrows into one
- Turn windrows for faster drying
- Move crop away from fence or borders
- Ted a 10 1/2-foot area to fluff up wet, matted-down crop for quick drying

And you can change the "255" from one function to another without tools! Stop by for a demonstration

Unit Has Performance Of Truck Vacuum

MONROE, Mich. — Pavement Vac, Inc. introduces the Ultra Vac, a "tow behind" vacuum unit with the performance of a truck vacuum at one-fourth the cost.

Engineered by a contract sweeping company, the Ultra Vac is tailor made for commercial vacuum accounts.

Whether used in conjunction with a truck sweeper or as a stand alone unit for smaller contract operators, its low initial investment and comparatively low maintenance costs make it useful for all vacuum contractors, significantly increasing their profitability in handling commercial cleanup operations.

Placement of the vacuum head under the engine utilizes the weight of the entire unit to ensure maximum trash pickup. The unit uses a self-contained air-flow design, which maximizes sweeping efficiency while minimizing maintenance and dust.

Its large, two-cubic-yard, abrasion-resistant steel hopper has the capacity to keep working for long periods between emptyings.

Engineered by a contract sweeping company, the Ultra Vac is tailor made for commercial vacuum accounts.

The unit is easily pulled by a half-ton pickup truck, permitting maximum use of vehicles which may otherwise sit idle for extended periods.

Precision welded from heavy-gauge steel with a durable powder-coat finish, Ultra Vac is designed for long, productive, and attractive life.

American Cyanamid Acquisition By BASF Closed Within Three Months

MOUNT OLIVE, N.J. — July 1 was the closing for BASF AG of Ludwigshafen, Germany, taking over the Cyanamid agricultural products business of American Home Products Corporation (AHP), a company headquartered in Madison, N.J.

This purchase, the largest acquisition in the corporation's history, doubles BASF's crop protection products business and moves it up into the ranks of the world's top three leading manufacturers of crop protection.

BASF's crop protection sales amounted to U.S. $1.9 billion in 1999. This closure follows approval of the EU Commission. Earlier in June, the waiting period under the Hart-Scott-Rodino pre-merger notification statute expired without any action by the U.S. antitrust agencies.

"With this step, we have consistently expanded our traditional strengths in crop protection, both regionally and from a portfolio viewpoint," said Eggert Voscherau, member of the board of executive directors and responsible for the health and nutrition segment, which includes BASF's Crop Protection business.

Since signing the agreement at the end of March, BASF has moved ahead quickly in planning of the integration, to be ready for the important fall launches in the northern hemisphere.

"I am very proud that we have managed to implement our ambitious plan within such a short time span, and this fills me with confidence as we tackle the upcoming integration process," said Friedrich Vogel, president of the crop protection division.

In the past few weeks, BASF has defined more than 100 key positions within the new crop-protection business. This puts into place a solid foundation for the further expansion of the global business. Once the purchase has been completed in most countries of the world, BASF will be in a position to work out the details of the strengthened crop protection business. In some countries, the merger will take place in a matter of weeks, in accordance with the local regulatory requirements.

"Our teams will continue to work as thoroughly and quickly as they have been doing so far," said Friedrich Vogel, "so that the new, expanded, and very powerful organization will already be up and running in October. Our new team will then, with the same commitment, be able to offer our customers an even more attractive product portfolio."

The future global headquarters of the Crop Protection Division will be Mount Olive, N.J. Friedrich Vogel said, "That way, we will be in a better position to place more emphasis on the strategically important agricultural regions of North and South America."

By integrating the global Cyanamid agricultural products business, BASF is building a crop protection business that will be successful.

"This Mixer Improved My Herd's Health"
- Brandt Gibbs, Gibbs Quest Dairy
"This was the first mixer we bought. We got it from Lapp's Barn Equipment in November, 1998. And it's amazing. Just adding this one piece of equipment actually improved our herd health noticeably."
Gibbs Quest Dairy keeps 80 cows in a tie stall barn. They use this RotoMix 414 Forage Express once a day with 200 lbs. of dry hay per mix, 2.5 lbs. per cow. Herd average is 23,500.

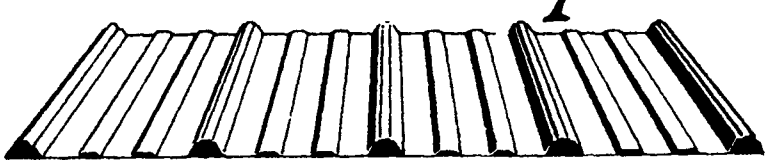
Rural Economy



Cost-efficient Centurydrain® roofing and siding is on some of the best looking buildings in the country.

Build with Centurydrain roofing and siding and you've built a money-wise structure. Full-hard, high tensile galvanized steel, and an exclusive drain channel for a dry interior give you a building that'll handle years of hard duty and hard weather. Good looking, too. Crisp lines and plenty of bright, long-lasting colors make Wheeling Centurydrain as handsome as it is economical.

Having Problems Getting Milk Cold?

Summer heat will soon be here. Plan now with a Mueller precooler. It's an excellent way to lower the cost of cooling milk. It reduces milk temperature with water pumped straight out of your well. Mueller® precoolers are available in sizes to work with any system. If lower electric bills would make your life easier, call us and ask for more information on Mueller precoolers.

SNYDER CO. OWNER SAYS SELL. This dairy farm is ideal for beef, sheep, goats and or dairy again The cropland is ideal for produce The farm produce auction close by makes this a viable use The farm house is large and is a 4 or 5 bedroom home with a modern kitchen and pantry Wildlife abounds and the area is semi-private Owner says he'll consider a reasonable offer with quick possession

TIOGA CO. - The last farm in the upper counties I have left All the others are SOLD and have happy owners This farm was poultry and hog but let your imagination go to work This farm has great potential for veal U-Store-It or go back to poultry Broilers or high rise layers Maybe even Breeder flocks The income from Breeder stock is very lucrative The price is open to any reasonable offer with immediate possession

SCHUYLKILL CO. - This small acreage farm has a modern veal and broiler operation with a new contract with Vineland Kosher for the broilers and the veal contract is ongoing The owner says sell now he will consider a reasonable offer He's moving to Eastern Bradford and has a farm picked out School bells will soon be ringing again and the motivation is great This one is a good money maker You won't need an outside job The home is real nice and has a large living-rec room

My needs list continues to grow. I have waiting buyers for Union, Snyder, Lancaster, Lebanon, Perry, Juniata, Berks and most any central PA Counties. Buyers for mountain land, cabins, large tracts with or without buildings. I need a large 250 to 300 acre dairy below Williamsport.
